

Assassins' Bullets Miss but De Gaulle Has Narrow Escape

French Police Start Search For Secret Army Killers

PARIS (AP) — Police today sought a band of Secret Army Organization killers whose bullets missed President Charles de Gaulle by only inches in an ambush on the outskirts of Paris.

An investigation indicated that Wednesday night's assassination attempt was the second planned this month on the 71-year-old French leader. The other failed to come off.

De Gaulle, unharmed but admitting he had "a close shave," rested with his wife at their guarded country home at Colombey les Deux Eglises.

The police search centered on a dark-haired man, about 30, who rented one of the ambush cars from a suburban garage three days ago. The light panel truck was found booby-trapped and abandoned a few hours after the assassins fired at the motorcade taking De Gaulle to a military airport.

The garage owner, who supplied the clue, said the same dark-haired man rented the same truck for five days on Aug. 4. Police noted that period coincided with De Gaulle's trip to Paris from his country home. He gave a luncheon Aug. 8 at Elysee Palace for visiting Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Fights Terrorism

De Gaulle had come to the capital Wednesday for a Cabinet meeting to draft stronger measures to stem a wave of terrorism blamed on right-wing extremists from Algeria.

De Gaulle's car was hit by at least 10 bullets in a heavy cross-fire as it sped along a road to the Villacoublay airport.

One of the bullets missed him by only two inches. Others broke the rear window and pierced side windows. The president was showered with glass but unhurt.

The gunman—believed numbering at least 10—fired about 150 bullets at the motorcade and hit some of the other cars.

Motorist Killed Wounded

No one in De Gaulle's party was hurt. A passing motorist was wounded in the hand.

Interior Minister Roger Frey said puncture-proof tires on the president's car and on the police cars which followed him were a saving factor. Bullets hit the tires but the cars were able to speed on.

De Gaulle, disdainful of his own safety, always travels in an ordinary French car, but security officials said an attempt will be made

Homeless Italians In Earthquake Belt Stay in Encampments

Thousands of homeless Italians huddled in open rain-soaked encampments today in an earthquake belt which stretched 150 miles from Naples eastward to the Adriatic.

Rain fell for hours Wednesday night, adding to the misery of the homeless survivors of Tuesday's quakes which killed 16 persons and injured 200.

The Italian cabinet ordered expenditure of $3.84 million in immediate and long-term assistance for the stricken area.

Only mild tremors were felt at Ravenna, the vacation site of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, about 45 miles from the quake's epicenter.

Soviet Propaganda

Two more U.S. Army cars followed without meeting any delays.

The Russians announced Wednesday they were doing away with the office of city commandant and transferring his duties "temporarily" to Gen. Ivan Yakubovskiy, the Soviet commander for East Germany, who has headquarters at Potsdam, just west of Berlin.

Western officials viewed the action as a Communist effort to cut one more "slice of salami" from

Schools Closed To End Violence

PANAMA (AP) — The government closed high schools in Panama City today in an effort to prevent the spread of student violence at the University of Panama.

About 200 high school students joined some 50 striking extremist university students Wednesday in barricading corridors and nailing classroom doors shut to prevent sneaking students from attending classes at the university.

Moderate students charged that extremists among the extremists were trying to take over the university.

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — An unidentified satellite was launched from here in predawn darkness today atop a Blue Scout rocket, the Air Force reported.

A spokesman declined to say whether the launch was successful in putting the satellite into orbit.

Kennedy Says U.S. Trying To Equal Soviets in Space

2 Nuclear Subs Finish Tests Under Polar Ice

Maneuvers Called Major Achievement In War Tactics

BY ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hide-and-seek maneuver by two U.S. Navy atomic submarines under polar ice points to the way a deep and deadly war could be fought in the Arctic.

President Kennedy announced the hitherto secret operation to a news conference Wednesday, saying that the submarines Skate and Seadragon had made "historic rendezvous" under the ice, then surfaced through an opening at the North Pole.

"This," said Kennedy, "is the first time that two of our submarines have worked together in this manner under the arctic ice pack and I want to congratulate all of those involved in this exceptional technical feat."

Major Demonstration

The submarine versus submarine operation started July 31 and concluded when the two ships surfaced Aug. 2. Navy experts consider it a major tactical demonstration that antishubmarine warfare in the hostile and weird environment of the ice-capped Arctic Ocean seems feasible in the event of hostilities.

Another phase of submarine warfare, rocket-firing by submarines, creates urgent requirement for counter-measures. Russia is beginning to build and send to sea atomic submarines. One of the logical launching points for any Soviet submarine rocket attack on the United States and Canada would be the Arctic Ocean.

U.S. Barrier Patrol

The U.S. Navy maintains a barrier patrol across one route for Russian submarines into the Atlantic. That barrier extends eastward from Greenland to Iceland and the Faroe Islands. But the Arctic Ocean, on which Russia borders, is wide open.

If Russia should begin deploying rocket submarines under the ice, the United States must create a defensive system. The only apparent means are attack submarines, perhaps sent on weeks-long patrols to listen electronically under the ice—a new barrier line.

Until now, the United States had no actual experience in submarine

Nuclear Ships To be Better, Less Costly

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Development of the pioneering nuclear merchant ship Savannah has shown the way to building improved yet cheaper atomic powered vessels for world commerce.

Robert E. Wilson, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, made that report Wednesday, forecasting that such advances could lead to:

1. Nuclear powered freighters that would speed across the Atlantic in four days—faster than luxury liners like the Queen Mary, and almost twice as fast as conventionally fueled cargo ships.

2. Long-range, 60-knot hydrofoils—ocean-going craft that would operate with only their foils submerged, while the hull rode above the water line.

3. Fast-stepping "ground effect machines" which would ride on a cushion of air near the surface of the water at speeds of perhaps 150 knots.

Wilson discussed these possibilities in a speech honoring the completion of the maiden voyage of the 22,000-ton, $53 million nuclear merchant ship, the first of its kind in the world.

Johnson in Lebanon To Start Official Visit

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson landed in Lebanon today on the first stop of his official visit to Middle East and Mediterranean countries.

Stepping from his jet after a flight from Washington and the Azores, Johnson was greeted by Foreign Minister Philip Bakla and other officials. Hundreds of Americans living here cheered him.

He was scheduled to spend 21 hours in Beirut, then go to Iran, Turkey, Cyprus, Greece and Crete.

Child Perishes in Park Trailer Fire

Camp Neighbor Saves Older Youngster After Explosion

HIGH CLIFF — As his brother said, Mahoney may have had the rescue, a tot perished in time to save it.

The vacation of a Park Ridge, Ill., family ended in tragedy when the trailer exploded and burned and mother as the child perished.

about 10:40 p.m. Dead is Wayne Kuntz, 19-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kuntz.

Rescue attempts by a camper neighbor saved a son, Scott, 3. Calumet Coroner Leroy Hughes said the father and Scott suffered second and third degree burns to the arms, face, chest and back. The mother, Janice, had first and second degree burns to the right arm and face.

The family fled the trailer just after the explosion.

The family arrived at the park about 7:40 p.m. after spending several days in Escanaba, Mich. About 10:40 p.m. Edward J. Mahoney, Wild Wood, Ill., who was camped with his wife and two sons about 150 feet from the trailer, told Hughes he heard a hissing and popping noise and saw blue flame from in front of the Kuntz trailer.

"There's a baby in there," the Kuntzs cried to Mahoney as he raced to the trailer. Hughes said Mahoney groped around in the trailer and found Scott. Perhaps if he had known there was another child in the trailer, Hughes

Mahoney took the mother and Scott to Kaukauna Community Hospital. A resident in the area, Francis Schneider, took the father to the hospital.

Hughes said the cause of the fire is undetermined. State Fire Marshal Earl Schwabe has been called to investigate.

Undersheriff C. J. Kosmosky investigated. Town of Harrison Volunteer Fire Department units one and two answered the alarm.

Hughes said the trailer had been rented for a week from Tour-E-Z Travel Trailer Rental System, Evanston, Ill.

Court Issues Order

Union Told to Resume Work at Space Center

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge, saying even seconds are important in this nuclear race, ordered striking electricians to resume work today at Redstone Arsenal's Space Research Center.

The National Labor Relations Board had a team of investigators on the scene to see if the judge's order was obeyed.

Construction work on space projects—including the CS Saturn booster for the United States' planned moonshot—has been idled nine days by the electricians' strike.

U.S. Dist. Judge Clarence W. Allgood gave union leaders a stern lecture Wednesday, telling them to get their men back on the job. The union president, Gordon Freeman, issued a back-to-work order earlier in the day.

Expects Nation to Catch Up By End of Decade; Points To Costs and Great Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the United States is pouring billions of dollars and a tremendous effort into overtaking Russia in space—and I think by the end of the decade we will.

This was a sort of hopeful look at long-term prospects in response to a news conference question Wednesday about Russia's orbiting of twin cosmonauts.

It was tempered by mention an even dozen times that this country now is behind, second, or late or that the Soviets have a lead. Kennedy said: "Anybody who attempts to suggest that we are not behind misleads the American people."

Red Experts in Cuba

Russia or Russians figured in one way or another in a wide range of conference topics.

For example, Kennedy said "The Bloc"—he meant the Communist bloc—has put large quantities of supplies and an increased number of technicians into Cuba in recent weeks. He said there is no similar information about troops.

He said that if Soviet Premier Khrushchev comes to the United Nations this fall—and he doesn't know that Khrushchev will—"I would hope I would have a chance to talk with him" and any other heads of government who might come.

The President said that Russia's action in abolishing its commandant's office in Berlin certainly cannot by itself affect U.S. rights based on a four-power agreement with the Soviets, Britain and France.

Stockpiling Inquiry

Getting closer to home, Kennedy put himself in the cheering section for a Senate subcommittee's investigation of profits on America's stockpiling of $8 billion in strategic materials.

The President said and repeated that extremely large profits were made by the Hanna Mining Company with very little risk to the firm, that he could understand the bill, designed to strengthen safeguards against the sale of dangerous or ineffective drugs, was listed by Kennedy Wednesday as one of "five particularly important measures" on which Congress will be acting shortly.

Others he referred to at his news conference were the farm bill, a constitutional amendment to outlaw the poll tax in federal elections, the trade expansion bill and the U.N. bond issue bill.

Vote Expected Today

Shortly after the drug bill was called up in the Senate late Wednesday, quick agreement was reached on a limitation of debate that should bring a final vote before the end of today's session.

The bill, as first approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee last month, fell short of what Kennedy asked. Since then, in the wake of the furor over the sedative thalidomide, the committee has approved strengthening amendments.

The legislation was introduced more than a year ago by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., chairman of the Senate Antitrust subcommittee, after a lengthy investigation of the prescription drug industry.

Stripped from the bill by the Judiciary Committee were anti-trust provisions Kefauver contends are necessary to substantially reduce what he calls exorbitant drug prices.

Kefauver failed to win administration backing for these provisions, but he has re-offered them in modified form.

B47 Crashes, Burns in Idaho National Forest

SMITH'S FERRY, Idaho (AP) — A B47 bomber crashed and burned this morning in the rugged Boise National Forest.

A spokesman for Mountain Home Air Force Base said the fate of the three-man crew was not known.

The spokesman said the plane was downed by Davis Mountain Air Force Base in Tucson, Ariz. It was reported on a routine training mission.

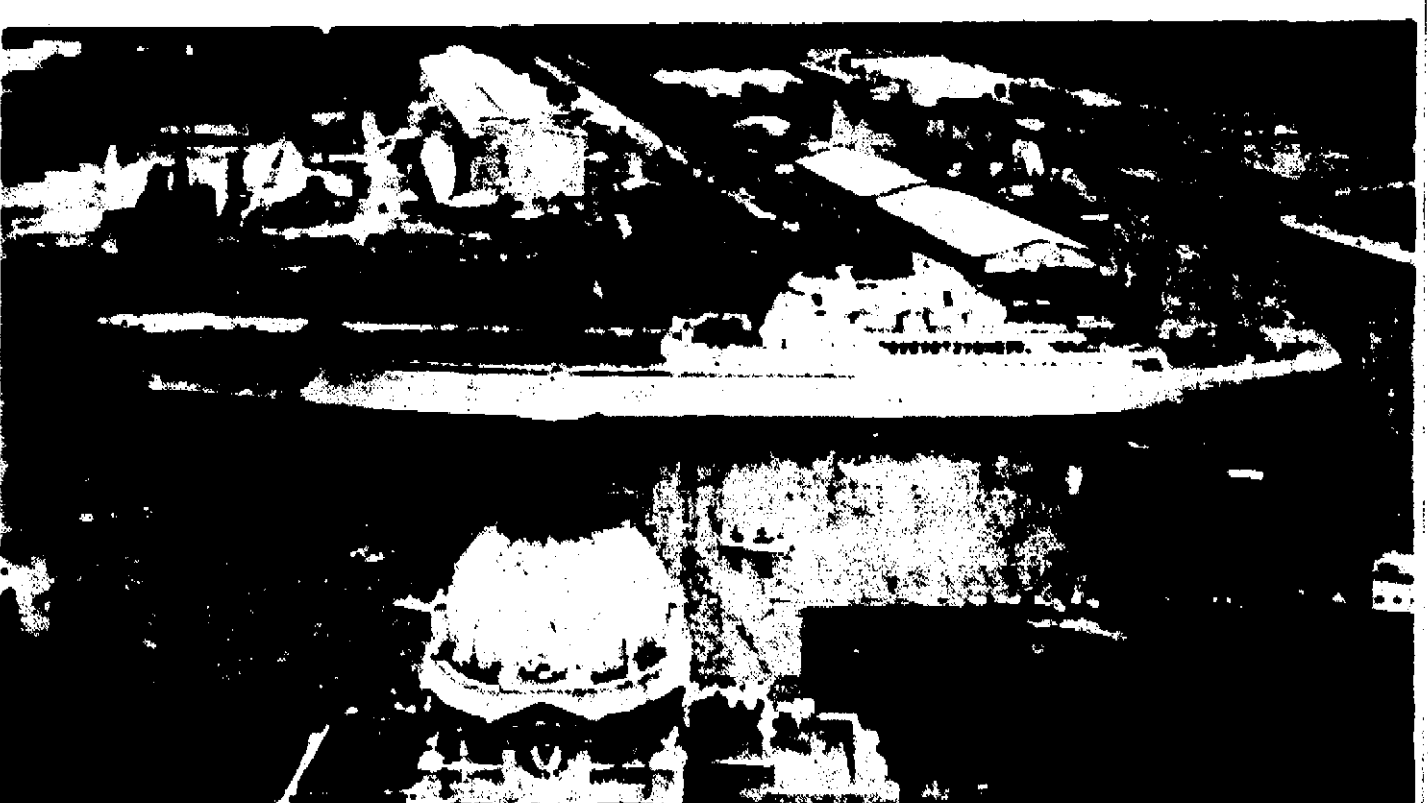

Expect Rain Tonight In Fox Cities Area

Fox Cities — Relief is finally expected, but it will probably be short lived and not substantial. Weatherman Ralph Dorn predicts chance of showers tonight and scattered showers Friday. Temperatures will turn cooler Friday night and clearing is expected. Tonight's low will be 66 and Friday's high near 80.

President Shoots Political Guns at Republican Critics

Kennedy Warms Up for Fall Campaign at News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob K. Kennedy is warming up his political guns for a series of forays in September and October against foes of his administration.

The President fired some bursts in Wednesday's news conference at assorted Republicans, at opponents of his social security-financed plan of health care for the elderly and at critics of his youngest brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy.

In mid-campaign form, Kennedy picked former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey and GOP Sens.

Delayed Too Long

When a reporter mentioned Keating's charge that action was being delayed on the Thurgood Marshall nomination, by "ridiculous and unbecoming questions," Kennedy didn't resist the temptation to take a crack at Keating, Javits and Eisenhower.

The President said action on the nomination of Marshall, former official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, as a U.S. circuit court judge had been delayed too long. Marshall is a Negro.

But Kennedy said he has assurances the Senate will confirm Marshall before Congress adjourns. He added:

Attacks Article

"In regard to Sen. Keating, I think it is interesting to point out that there were seven circuit court vacancies during the previous administration which the senators from New York had something to say about . . . and Thurgood Marshall was not nominated on any of those occasions."

Kennedy also took a swipe at Eisenhower's criticism of the moonshot program. In a magazine article recently, the former president said efforts to put a man on the moon added up to little more than a stunt. Kennedy said it was "important, vital."

Kennedy also said "We are second to the Soviet Union" in development of rocket boosters needed to carry heavy loads into space. He said "We are behind and we are going to be behind for a while" and "anybody who attempts to suggest that we are not behind misleads the American people." Eisenhower had told a London news conference Aug. 15: "I do not agree that they (the Russians) have a space lead that there is a gap. I'm a little tired of that word gap."

"Stab in the Back"

Kennedy sailed into Humphrey for charging that a Senate Armed Services subcommittee investigation of stockpiling was—a reporter put it—"a stab at the back of President Eisenhower."

Except for the four years he served in Eisenhower's cabinet, Humphrey has been associated for years with the Hanna mining interests.

The President said the M. A. Hanna Co. is being investigated in the stockpile probe—not Humphrey, except as a responsible official of the firm. Kennedy contended that the firm made "extremely large profits with very little risk to the company" on nickel contracts.

Congress Does Job

"I can quite understand," he said, "the desire of some witnesses to identify themselves with President Eisenhower or to limit the investigation by charging that it is an attack on President Eisenhower, but I think the Congress ought to do its job."

Kennedy sat down firmly on the National Committee for an Effective Congress. This privately financed group, which says it supports "world-minded" candidates, suggested recently that Edward Kennedy's candidacy for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Massachusetts is hurting the President politically.

"I think the people of Massachusetts can make a more effective judgment for a more effective Congress than even this committee," Kennedy replied tartly. "I think that they will."

Health Plan Factor

Kennedy was asked if the defeat of Rep. James B. Frazier Jr., D-Tenn., and the close call Rep. J. Carlton Lasher, D-Tenn., had in the primaries indicates opponents of his health care plan for the elderly are likely to have rough going.

He said he thinks his plan will be one of the factors the voters take into account in deciding on House members and senators.

Ban-the-Bomb Cantata Gets Mixed Reaction

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—The first performance of a ban-the-bomb cantata ended amid boos, cheers and polite applause. The cantata—"On the Bridge at Hiroshima"—was composed by Italy's Luigi Nono especially for the Edinburgh Festival.

It was performed Wednesday night by the London Symphony Orchestra.

After 25 Years

Daughter United With East German Mother

BY AL SANDNER

GRASS LAKE, Mich. (AP)—"I'll never be alone again," the 77-year-old grandmother said as she clutched the hand of the daughter she had not seen in 25 years.

Mrs. Helena Gruebna, who passed through the Berlin Wall Tuesday, was reunited Wednesday with Mrs. Margaret Reuter—the daughter she left behind in 1937 when she went for a visit to her native Germany.

She stepped off a jetliner in Detroit, and left shortly afterward for Grass Lake, a suburb of Jackson, Mich., where she spent her first evening watching television. She will live with her daughter, her son-in-law Gilbert and their children. "Mother, God bless you," Mrs. Reuter sobbed as she kissed her mother.

Keeps Promise

"I have such nice grandchildren," Mrs. Gruebna said as she saw them for the first time. She has five—the oldest 24, the youngest 12.

Mrs. Gruebna, one of the few persons allowed by East Germany to cross the wall, made good on a promise made earlier in New York when she told newsmen she would recognize her daughter immediately. She picked her out of the crowd waiting.

The grandmother has forgotten how to speak English, but said through her bilingual lawyer she would learn again.

East-West Agreement

The lawyer, G. Vernon Leopold—himself a former German refugee—said he believed Mrs. Gruebna was the first person to apply successfully for reunion with her family under an East-West agreement since the building of the Berlin Wall.

Troubles at the wall had the family apprehensive that something would go wrong, Mrs. Reuter said. She couldn't rest easy until she got a telephone call from West Berlin, she said.

Her mother went back to visit

Many Uses for New Optical Device Planned

Gadget Developed To Detect Cravices, Boulders on Moon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The day of "seeing eye" vacuum cleaners and lawn mowers is coming closer.

A gadget which could guide rug-sweeping and yard-trimming appliances without human help—and distinguish warheads from decoys or submarines from whales—was demonstrated Wednesday at the Western Electronics Show.

Called an optical detection filter, the device was developed to detect cravices and boulders for unmanned moon jeeps.

Pinpoint Storms

Builder Sam S. Viglione of Douglas Aircraft's Astropower Electronics Laboratory said the same principles could be used in making instruments to:

1. Recognize fingerprints, signatures or even human faces and then unlock doors and bank vaults.
2. Pinpoint storm centers as they develop beneath orbiting satellites.
3. Guide spaceships through a starfield while the pilots sleep.

Tiny Computer

The prototype device, which has been miniaturized from a roomful of instruments, fits in a suitcase. Viglione said further research could reduce the size to a three-pound object nine inches long.

It is basically a tiny computer which has been taught to identify 200,000 three-dimensional shapes. It has 400 photo cells in the retina of its "eye" and 400 logic units in its "brain."

The key to its usefulness is the ability to distinguish between an almost unlimited number of signal patterns, and do it faster than a man can think.

ABC, NBC Reject Political Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The American and National Broadcasting Companies rejected Wednesday a Republican proposal that night-time television shows be shortened by five minutes this fall to allow prime time for paid political telecasts.

The Columbia Broadcasting System rejected the suggestion last week.

The GOP proposal called for political broadcasts for candidates for governor, senator and local officers throughout the nation, with the broadcasts being seen on local television stations subscribing to the three networks.

Communist-Bloc Aid to Cuba Seems to be More Economic Than Military

Washington Officials Believe Reports of Help Exaggerated

BY PETER LISAGOR

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The "intensive quantity" of Communist-bloc supplies and technicians reaching Cuba in recent weeks is believed here to be directed at propping up Fidel Castro's wobbly economy rather than building up an army.

Informed officials admit to a paucity of "hard evidence" as to the contents of some 30 ships if the supplies continue to come known to have arrived at Cuban ports in the last month.

They also say that the rumor mills in refugee-cluttered Miami there are no indications of any other places in the Caribbean where the Cuban economy is pictured as being in such dismal shape as to give Communism a bad name even among Marxists.

The Castro regime has had to suspend some of its top industrial managers for their failures in the past few days.

The estimates here are that the ships have brought in some 4,000 to 5,000 personnel, some of them returning from training in the past few days.

Lawyers for Red Spy Want Records Of Negotiations

LONDON (AP) — Attorneys for Dr. Robert A. Soblen asked the high court today to compel Home Secretary Henry Brooke to produce exchanges between the U.S. and British governments concerning the fugitive spy.

They asked that Brooke be subpoenaed. Justice John Stephenson did not rule immediately on the request.

The development came at the opening of the third day of hearings on Soblen's second application for a writ of habeas corpus. The 61-year-old psychiatrist is fighting deportation to the United States to serve a life sentence for espionage.

Soblen was in court again today. He seemed in better health and spirits than Wednesday, when he left the courtroom three times complaining that he felt ill. He claims he is dying of leukemia.

F. Elwyn Jones, the head of Soblen's legal team, charged that the home secretary, by ordering Soblen deported to New York, was trying to extradite him. He contended the doctor had committed no extraditable offense because espionage is not an extraditable offense under the U.S.-British extradition treaty.

F. Elwyn Jones, the head of Soblen's legal team, charged that the home secretary, by ordering Soblen deported to New York, was trying to extradite him. He contended the doctor had committed no extraditable offense because espionage is not an extraditable offense under the U.S.-British extradition treaty.

The development came at the opening of the third day of hearings on Soblen's second application for a writ of habeas corpus. The 61-year-old psychiatrist is fighting deportation to the United States to serve a life sentence for espionage.

Soblen was in court again today. He seemed in better health and spirits than Wednesday, when he left the courtroom three times complaining that he felt ill. He claims he is dying of leukemia.

Public Health Services

An anomaly exists in the field of public health in the city of Appleton. Generally speaking most citizens are in favor of the best possible public health services for the community. But because they do not speak out about it, the city council feels they are satisfied with what they have.

It is natural that the city health commissioner should believe his department should be enlarged to provide more services. But we believe Dr. Marvin Kagen has done the public a service by pointing out recently that in his opinion the Appleton public health program does not even meet minimum standards.

The present city health department staff consists of a full-time sanitarian, a part-time sanitarian who works only during the summer months, and two office girls.

Things to Come

The current rash of complaints about sonic booms in Wisconsin is being echoed in more formal fashion in New York. The state attorney general has been asked for court action to force the Port of New York Authority to do something in the way of toning down airport noises, particularly from the jet airliners at the New York International Airport at Idlewild.

When Idlewild was started a decade ago, a large amount of land was purchased by experts who knew that the Newark Airport was overcrowded and LaGuardia undersized. Located on the Atlantic side, Idlewild is an hour's fast drive from downtown Manhattan. But it still is too near heavily residential areas now that huge jets take off and land all day and all night.

The petition to the attorney general was prepared by the Aircraft Noise Control Commission of Nassau County and charges that the noises are a menace to "health and welfare" of people in the area. It charges that the Port Authority does not take all measures to keep down the jet

Laboratory Schools

State College officials have strongly opposed the recommendation by Gov. Nelson's Department of Administration that college laboratory schools be closed and the areas converted into classrooms for college students. But the college officials have as yet failed to prove that the laboratory schools actually are worth their costs.

This argument is not new. There have been charges in the past that the state was providing an unwarranted aid to local communities in which the state colleges are located by paying the costs of educating some children in the laboratory schools. But college officials point out that Wisconsin State Colleges are by statute primarily teacher training institutions and that the laboratory schools are in themselves a form of classroom for the aspiring teachers. They insist that local public and private schools do not provide enough opportunity for practice teaching particularly in some of the smaller cities where state colleges are located.

Both St. Norbert and Lawrence colleges cooperate successfully with local schools for practice teaching. It is true that the Fox Cities and the Green Bay area provide more such opportunity than can be found

State Park Fees

Visitors to state parks now are required to pay 50 cents per car to enter a park for one day's visit or a car may be licensed to enter state parks all season for $2. Before the opening of the present season all Wisconsin state parks were open to visitors without charge.

While some citizens may be slightly irritated at being held up at the entrance to a park and assessed this charge, most people upon consideration will feel that it is a small payment for the privileges allowed. Furthermore, there is no reason why people using the parks should not make this contribution toward their maintenance and upkeep. Thousands of people who seldom if ever enter the parks have been contributing toward them for years through regular tax payments. The new payments should be accepted as a matter of justice by those using the parks. The possibilities also are good that they are contributing toward a program that will give them better equipped and managed parks in the future.

Small Business Group Saves Minnesota Firm

From Tops Service

Earlier this year, a small Minnesota firm applied for an Army contract but was turned down on grounds its capacity was too small.

Now comes news that this little company has been awarded a $340,000 Army contract, thanks to the efforts of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., and some others. The company, John Edwards & Sons, a machine shop in Black Duck, Minn., will make tail fin assemblies for 80 millimeter mortar shells.

When the firm was turned down because of its small size, Sen. Humphrey asked the Small Business Administration to determine its capability for a large federal contract.

Minnesota Indians came to the rescue also: The Red Lake Indian Tribe made a loan of $37,500; another $5,000 came from the Black Duck Development Corp., and $17,500 from the

Dr. Kagen says the staff should consist of three full-time sanitarians, two public health nurses, an office staff of three, plus a milk inspection laboratory.

Dr. Kagen blames the apathy of citizens, as a result of lack of education, for the current situation.

This becomes most apparent at budget time. The finance committee of the city council refuses funds for expanded city health services because it has no evidence the public wants them. No public support of an expanded program has been heard and there has been no outcry when additional funds were refused.

Dr. Kagen has laid it out on the line this year. Between now and budget time this fall the council will be waiting to hear what the community thinks.

noises although only certain runways are used for night take-offs.

As the number of planes, and particularly of jets for commercial purposes increases, this situation is going to be repeated around the United States. The U. S. Supreme Court decision awarding damages to a resident living near a large airport placed the responsibility for the damages upon the county operating the airport and not the federal government. The attorney in the New York case also points out that the Port Authority "assumes full responsibility for the operation of the airport at Idlewild and specifically asserts that it is not subject in this respect to control by any federal authority."

County leaders whose lack of vision or regional prejudice have encouraged the building and expansion of airports close to residential areas may be responsible in years to come for large damage suits and a serious holding down of development of air travel in their areas. The costs of relocating too-small airports today will be nothing compared to widespread damage suits tomorrow.

in River Falls or Platteville. But we wonder whether the emphasis upon practice teaching is not overdone at the state colleges?

The college officials also note that the laboratory schools are important for educational experiments in courses and methods. In this category we could support their cost to the state. But the officials have failed so far to show that new ideas in education have been tried to any extent at the state college laboratory schools. It seems that the new ideas in education, such as different conceptions of the teaching of math and science and the emphasis upon foreign languages in grade schools, have come from other states. We are at a loss, in fact, to remember a single new trend in educational theory or practice that has been developed in Wisconsin in recent years despite some rather elaborate facilities at laboratory schools.

State college officials undoubtedly feel otherwise and they are supposed to know the needs of teacher training institutions. But with the ever rising costs of higher education in Wisconsin we'd like to see more solid justification for the laboratory schools if they are to be continued.

Recently Interior Sec. Udall asked the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation to study the fee proposal with a view to the adoption by the Interior Department of a broad policy on future park purchases and means of paying for them. While the federal government long has made some charges for the use of its federal parks a great many of its facilities have been free. From time to time there have been suggestions that fees be charged and the proceeds used to buy new lands and help maintain parks. There is a bill in Congress now which would authorize the acquisition of a number of large tracts of potential park lands at a total cost of about $500 million, with a provision that the purchase money be repaid to the government through the collection of a user's fee.

The charge for the use of state and national parks is fully justified. It is regrettable that Wisconsin did not begin such a policy many years ago. If it had, its park program would have been much farther ahead today.

agriculture department's development program.

SBA's Responsibility Here is an instance of where the Small Business Administration has served a worthwhile purpose, and it is about time. It would be well for the SBA to expand its efforts in assisting small companies to participate in government contracts as well as to compete in other fields with big companies for the small business is the backbone of this nation.

Instead of putting restrictions upon small business, our government agencies, especially SBA, should seek ways to aid them, not handicap them. Too many small businessmen say the regulations of the SBA are too binding.

You've Got to be Moving When You Drive Onto Highway 41

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It particularly disturbs me when some people blame road systems for driving hazards, as in the Forum on Sunday. How can the vast majority of semi-truck drivers travel hundreds of thousands of miles under all weather conditions and types of roads without mishap? I'm sure these men concentrate first of all, and know the limitations of performance of their rig.

New cars with big horsepower will go from 0 to 60 miles per hour in about 10 seconds, with the low-powered ones taking at least 23 seconds. Now how many really keep a car in top condition? Safety checks don't check your dash-away ability, but in about one-third of the cases they find serious safety faults.

Remember next time you pull onto a highway that a car traveling at 65 mph will cover 1425 feet in the first 15 seconds when you cover only 900 feet with your foot smashed to the floorboard. If you persist in pulling out short then rest assured that someday you'll get splattered.

On the Highway 41 interchange, many drivers are braking down to about 25 mph and trying to merge. Every car on the main highway should keep their speed at 65 mph and if possible move to the left lane if cars are coming up the "chute." Those cars coming in should attempt to reach 65 mph before leaving the "chute," as it then takes only a slight tap of the brakes with your left foot to merge with the main highway traffic. If you must drop back a car length or two.

A highway engineer can design your roadways, but he can't drive your car for you.

Looking Backward

Neenah, Menasha Renew Feud

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Aug. 30, 1962.

We learn from a gentleman in Menasha that the olden strife between that place and Neenah is again assuming a warlike aspect. The Menasha story is as follows in brief.

The Improvement Company built a canal at Menasha. Neenah wished it or another one at Neenah, the company did not deem it feasible to do so; a canal and lock were constructed by individual enterprise.

However, for nearly three years boats have not passed through there and consequently, the work has gone into decay.

The depot being located so far from Menasha, her people erected the long bridge over Lake Butte des Morts for business accommodations. The railroad had its charter amended to allow them to run the road through the two places — crossing over the river and the canal at Neenah and the lake at Menasha.

The bridge over the lake runs almost parallel with the former long bridge. Neenahites have forbidden piles (for the track) to be driven in their unused canal; they have concluded not to allow the road to be built and have ordered Menashans to contract a draw in the long bridge, and, unless done, have threatened to destroy the bridge.

Menasha has been nightly guarding the bridge with 20 men for nearly a week. Other matters remain in status quo.

Under the Capital Dome

Withholding Key to Democrat Tax Plans

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The extent of the victory the Democrats believe they won when the Republican legislature reluctantly wrote into law the personal income tax withholding bill is only now being fully disclosed.

Gubernatorial Candidate John Reynolds, for example, is keying his tax discussions during his drive almost wholly to the fact of the withholding act, and he spares no words in describing it as the biggest triumph of the Wisconsin Democrats in legislative halls in recent times.

As he puts it, his party could not stand for higher income taxes without the buttress of pay check deductions. Without quite saying so aloud, he implies that direct assessment upon the taxpayers in annual returns would be politically impossible. But with the withholding mechanism, he appears to believe, there is no immediate limit to the expandability of the income tax scale.

MAYBE

He may have something there. Not a few of the professional observers of political affairs have been somewhat surprised, privately at least, that there has been so little rank and file taxpayer reaction to the fact that the legislature a year ago substantially increased the state income tax rates, while it enacted the withholding scheme.

It is a fair deduction that most of the wage-earners of the state are not entirely familiar with the effect of those events — or have not yet compared their yearly total of income tax payments under the present system with the annual obligation under the former law.

Under the circumstances, it is reasonable to assume that there could be further increases without much public reaction, or surely with far less public reaction than would ensue under the old system of once a year payments in cash that many individuals found difficult to raise on the due date.

What Mr. Reynolds does not say, in these chortles about withholding as a triumph for his party, is that his position in favor of repealing the present limited sales tax through income tax replacement, and the financing of the inevitable budget increases through income taxes also, will require a beginning rate of income taxation that will be the equivalent of a high sales tax for most of the wage earners of the state. The present rate starts at two per cent, and graduates. The future rate, in these terms, would start at three per cent at least, quickly rise to four or five in the next brackets.

REALITY

The orthodox liberal, discussing taxation, tends always to believe that the big boosts should be in the higher brackets of income. That was a feasible position a generation or more ago, when the governmental spending appetites were modest, and U. S. government taxation was mild.

But that no longer is practicable, and to give them credit, most of the principal spokesmen for the liberal cause in Wisconsin acknowledge it — however reluctantly and privately. There isn't, to put it in the simplest terms, enough potential harvest in the upper brackets of taxable income, given the prior claims to the national government, to raise the kind of money now being talked about — without confiscatory rates that would make Wisconsin notorious in the eyes of the country.

The bulk of the taxable income is in the lower brackets, in the hands of wage and moderate salary earners. It is there that the legislature must levy — if as Reynolds says the state must adhere exclusively to the income tax as a state treasury revenue source. But no legislature likely to be elected in Wisconsin would find it remotely possible to gather $100,000,000 a year or more from the more numerous wage and salary earners, without the sedation provided by the pay check deduction law.

Guess This Wasn't Our Day This Year

Who said ours is a "no-win" foreign policy? The U.S. is preparing to give large scale aid to British Guiana to help in the orderly development of that Marxist nation. But Cheddi Jagan's government is prepared to do its part in that development — his People's Progressive party just recently announced it will train 500 young men and women in socialism.

10 YEARS AGO

Lawrence Says Capitol 'Mess' Due to Split In Democrats

Factions Represent Views of People, Not of President

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There certainly is a "mess in Washington" these days. It is due almost entirely to the fact that the Democratic party is split into radical—or so-called "liberal"—faction and a conservative faction.

Actually, the record of recent years shows that a Democratic-controlled Congress gets along better with a Republican president who tends to be conservative than with a Democratic president. For the radical wing of the Democratic party produces an unstable and confusing situation. Claims were made during the 1960 campaign that because the nation had experienced an era of "divided government" it would be better to have both the legislative and executive branches of the government in the hands of the Democrats. But this has not turned out to be a remedy either.

President Eisenhower got along with the Democratic majority in Congress because he had the help of the conservative Democratic bloc as well as the conservative Republican bloc. The bipartisan coalition which was in the major ity reflected the conservative mood of the country.

Revolt by Radicals

The recent filibuster in Congress was really a revolt by the radical bloc in the Democratic party against its own leadership. This group hoped to turn a hesitant President away from his natural inclination to take a more or less conservative course and to draw him closer to the radical cause. But Kennedy has had troubles with the conservative bloc too, as on medical care.

Some aspects of the whole problem of presidential leadership at a time like this were interestingly discussed the other day by the conservative Democrat Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, often referred to as one of the most powerful men in the Senate.

Kerr was asked by Richard Wilson of the Cowles Publications the following question during an NBC-TV interview:

Do you feel that it is appropriate for a man who represents one state to insist upon his point of view above the point of view of a man who is elected by all the people of all the states?"

Greater Divergence

Well, replied Sen. Kerr, "if a man doesn't represent the view of his constituents they will get rid of him and send somebody here that will. You know when this government was set up and the Constitution was written it was written so that each state would have two senators. And there was a great divergence of interest at the time that that Constitution was written and the first 13 states sent their representatives here. The divergence is even greater today.

But remember this Mr. Wilson: that the divergence between all of the economic groups in this country and the sum total of their welfare is what makes up the strength the economic progress, the position the growth and development of this country. And certainly the Constitution said: 'No man shall be denied the right of petition to his Congress' and that means whether he is a worker, an employer, a farmer, a trucker, a railroader, a power man, an oil man, a manufacturer, a lawyer, a doctor or what ever his business is.

The sum total of all of those economic interests make up the sum total of America. And the men in the Congress represent those various interests. And God grant that they always do because if they didn't then you would have one group of Americans superior over another and then we would cease to be a democracy and lose the benefits of a representative form of government because to make that work, we must represent all the people in this country."

The foregoing is an accurate statement of the political theory now has controlled a majority in behind congressional representa- both houses of Congress. 4 Appleton Policemen Enter Marksman Test

Four Appleton policemen will B competition will be Sgts. John represent the Appleton Police De. Van Bommel, Don Pekarske, and partment's top pistol team which Jerry Kavaney. Patrolman Earl will compete for state honors Jackson is the team's fourth man. Monday in Sheboygan.

The Appleton department won only one state trophy in 1958. This year teams from Green Bay ley Police Pistol League compe- and Madison are favored to take tion which concluded last week. Van Bommel ranked ninth in the top honors.

Shooting as a team in Class final aggregate of shooters, Pekarske was tenth. Kavaney ranked 13th and Jackson was 17th. Shooters ranked in Class A competition—the top category of five divisions—must fire an average of 281 or better out of a possible 300 perfect score. Averages are determined by sanctioned firing on police pistol ranges before the league competition or by previous averages in last year's competition.

Four Appleton policemen will be competing on the department's second team. Lt. John Gosch, and patrolmen Rodney Helms, Gary Kilby and Robert Breckenridge will shoot in the Class D competition. Helms, Kilby and Breckenridge are shooting in the state meet for the first time. Patrolman James Wisner, also a freshman shooter, is listed as an alternate shooter with the teams.

Trophy Winners

Helms, Kilby and Wisner shared most of the individual trophies given at the conclusion of the Fox Valley Police Pistol League competition last week. Helms topped three first place trophies for Class D slow fire, time and grand aggregate shoot-

Kilby received trophies for second place in the Class D time fire and grand aggregate. Wisner took third place in the Class D slow fire and rapid fire.

Appleton's top pistol team took third place in the Class A team competition, and the second squad ranked third in Class C. The department's third team, firing in Class D took second place. That team is made up of Breckenridge, Herbert DeBruin, Kilby and Wisner.

Teams included in the pistol league are Green Bay, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Oshkosh, Neenah, Fond du Lac, and Menasha. Don Cuene, a Green Bay policeman, is the league's top shooter with a 881 average and a grand aggregate total of 5,286.

Earlier this month in the Saturday Evening Post Eisenhower making a tremendous effort. He said he doubted the wisdom of increasing after I took office, racing the Soviets to put a man after four months, we increased on the moon and criticized the budget for space by 50 per cent of the Kennedy administration for that of my predecessor. Henry Burden said the fact of the matter is this year we submitted a space budget, as if answering the question of the combined eight space budgets seemed to be going under the previous eight years. So Kennedy administration in this country is making a fast effort. But in his Aug. 13 talk on the economy Kennedy said he inherited a recession from Eisenhower and that under him the country was recovering from two recessions in 1958 and 1959. Eisenhower recessions in 1958 and 1959.

CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville Jaycee Chapter will sponsor a teenage dance from 8:30 to 11:30 Friday evening at the Clintonville Senior High School cafeteria.

Live music will be provided by a grant from the Regonides Foundation.

Refreshments are to be handled by the members of the school's Letterman's Club.

Jaycee chaperones for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fritz, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wunsch and Dr. and Mrs. Peter Oberhauser. Everett Pierre is the Jaycee chairman for this event.

Several times in moments of deep concern since he took office Kennedy has sought out Eisenhower to talk with him. This was a switch for Eisenhower, whose relations with his predecessor, former President Truman, were frigid.

Blames Eisenhower

But twice within 10 days, Kennedy has traced two of this country's most vital troubles—the space race with Russia and the economy—back to Eisenhower as trouble he inherited.

Eisenhower's criticism of his successor in the White House has picked up steam over the past three months.

A month ago today he said the Kennedy administration "is floundering — thrashing aimlessly about" while doing things he said "have started the whole nation to question its ability to comprehend."

Criticizes Farm Bill

A month before he said he believes Kennedy is in the clutches of the 'big spenders' He had acutely criticized the Kennedy farm program before and after the House killed it with all but one Republican voting against it

In his television talk to the nation Aug. 13—after the Russians had shot their orbital twins into space—Kennedy admitted the United States was behind but had started late in the 1950s.

Eisenhower, whose administration spanned most of the 1950s said Aug. 15 in London he does not agree with those who say the Russians have a space lead over the United States.

"I do not agree," he said, "that they (the Russians) have a space lead or that there is a gap. I'm a little tired of that word gap."

At his news conference Wednesday, Kennedy—saying “anybody who attempts to suggest we are

Post Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The Wisconsin AFL CIO affiliated union of state civil service workers is drafting a new legislative program that includes a proposal for an absolute retirement at the age of 65 rule for all persons employed by the state government.

The association will prepare its 1963 legislative goals at a convention to be held here Sept. 22.

The state now has a 65 year retirement system but department administrators at their option are permitted to grant extensions of employment for one year periods to key employees or those in special circumstances. Such exceptions would be removed from the law by the state employee union plan.

WSEA delegates will consider other proposals of the union's officers for new employee benefit legislation including

Other Proposals

Liberalization of the prior service credits within the state retirement program to counteract price inflation in recent years and thus to increase the level of retirement benefits payable from the fund

Increase of the employee deposit rate for current employment from four to five per cent for the general classification of employees thus providing higher retirement annuities for most state workers.

Adjustment of the so called variable annuity option from the present 50 per cent of total credits to 100 per cent on a voluntary choice for each covered employee. Under the variable annuity option a part of the covered employee's deposit is used for investment in common stocks as a means of providing a better rate of return.

Inside Labor

Soviets Having Trouble Trying to Court India

BY VICTOR RIESEL

NEW DEHLI — A phone call was placed the other night in Room 628 of the Ashoka Hotel to the luxury three-room Suite No. 440. A man answered. He would not talk. I know. I placed the call. The man who answered was First Deputy Chairman of the USSR Council of Ministers Anastas Mikoyan. He had just spent 65 minutes with apaling Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Riesel

Vice chairman Mikoyan was passing through here on his way home from Jakarta. He had just one night. But he was handling it with finesse, including a candlelight dinner in the lush dining room known as Suite No. 355. That is the way of the Russians. There were mutual toasts to eternal friendship and aid not only for the third five-year plan of the Indians but the fourth, the fifth and so on into time.

Win Over India

The Soviets are trying hard here to win over India's 438 million people—of whom at least nine million are jobless, and the "underemployed" are upwards of 18 million. This means they earn 30 to 40 cents a day. A skilled worker—such as an electrician—earns $1.50 a day.

So the Russians try in the hope the teeming hungry masses will come day Sovietize or China-ify India. How do they try? There is, for example, the very efficient Bhilai steel mill in the State of Madhya Pradesh. The Russians built it. They put over 700 skilled men into it so that a Soviet technician virtually stood alongside every valve and lever and button.

But nothing was left either to chance or to any of the lesser Russian technicians. The Soviets sent in the equivalent of our Presidential cabinet officers to see to it that the mill would operate as a showpiece—and these men nursed it from the first excavation to the final furnaces.

Operation Big Whigs

In charge was Venamin E. Dymshits. He was in India for months. When he returned to Moscow they made him Chairman of the Soviet State Planning Committee as well as Deputy Premier (Vice Chairman of the Council of Ministers of the USSR). This is the equivalent of a committee made up of Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and U.S. Steel Chairman Roger Blough coming in to supervise the construction and operation of just one mill here.

The Bhilai steel mill has operated beautifully. The British-German-American efforts in steel have not gone so well. The Russians spent over $168 million. What did they get for it in political terms? Not much.

Have Not Succeeded

Despite a strong veteran labor movement here and a smoothly functioning Communist party apparatus the Soviets have not succeeded in winning either the affection or support of the Indian people even though the poverty and hunger are so vast, it is almost unimaginable back home.

Let's look at the vote for Parliament in 1957, the Communists polled 9.78 per cent of the vote. This year, the Party (CPI) polled 9.98 per cent. Not much gain for eternal friendship and aid not only for the third five-year plan of the Indians but the fourth, the fifth and so on into time.

The Indians must maintain a swift railroad system. Their vehicle roads are what ours were in 1905. There are no highways as we know them. We have helped them keep their rail system modern.

Malaria Control

We have sent medical teams deep into almost primitive villages. Malaria control and eradication have saved millions.

Before World War II there were an estimated 100 million cases of malaria in India each year. Of these, 2 million were lethal. We spent over $48 million here in the fight on the disease. We trained key personnel. We bought jeeps and trucks. We piled up insecticide. We trained, we transported. Today, the best figures available reveal that the incidence of malaria has been reduced by over 80 million cases a year.

We have helped in college nurses training development. We have built fertilizer plants so the earth of old Mother India could be coaxied to give up more food. I could list a hundred projects here.

The Indian working people know this India's intellectuals know this India's labor leaders are aware of this. They are, for the most part, with us. You would not know it from the unpleasant face Krishna Menon puts on all India when he is in the U.S. But that is his special technique—to make us hate him and therefore dislike India.

We denounce him. He reprints these insults here in India. Thus the pro-Soviet Menon makes it appear that we are against all Indians and all India. He comes between us and the great mass of people here.

In Dehli they have a gag. They say that they are suffering from a bad case of Menon-gitis.

Well, let's not catch that fever. We are a lot more popular here, and there is far more distrust of the Sino-Soviet bloc than we realize back home.

So Anastas Mikoyan can have his candlelight dinners. Democratic civilization has the Indian people. That's a fair exchange. (Copyright 1962)

Of all the Englishmen who drink gin... how many drink Gordon's?

Most of them. And it's been that way for M years. To be blunt about it, Gordon's is England's biggest selling gin—as it is America's and the world's. Why? Probably because we have always refused to tamper with a good thing. Gordon's still harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula—conceived in London 193 years ago—so its distinctive dryness and flavour remain unchanged and unchallenged to this day. Ask for Gordon's by name at your favourite tavern and package store.

2 Nuclear Subs Finish Polar Ice Maneuvers

hunting in polar areas. Although atomic subs have been exploring and mapping the ocean floor of the area since 1958, they have worked singly and purely on exploration and crew training missions.

But on July 31, the Skate, coming up from the Atlantic and the Seadragon, from the Pacific, received radioed orders to start hunting each other.

Navy sources said this was a realistic operation, with each submarine using all its equipment and technique for evasion and search—a dual between submarines such as would occur in actual arctic engagement.

The conditions were unlike anything encountered in years of actual and practice antisubmarine warfare.

In the Arctic, pressure ridges of ice, extending downward as well as above the surface, create inverted "mountains" behind which a submarine can hide. The normal problem of penetrating thermal layers of water in vertical probes by sonar is complicated with the horizontal blocks imposed by pressure ridges and occasional bergs.

Water temperatures, which affect the performance of both active and passive sonar, are far different from even the cold waters of the North Atlantic.

Here, in the naturally hostile environment, with the surface sealed off by ice, there would be little chance for escape by a wounded submarine. The contest would mean kill or be killed.

now to get him to use a car with bullet-proof glass.

Incendiary grenades were found near the scene of the attack. De Gaulle was still covered with glass when his car arrived at the airport three miles away. He appeared unperturbed and absolutely calm.

Mrs. De Gaulle also appeared calm. She, the president and their son-in-law, Col. Alain de Boissieu, took off as planned for De Gaulle's country home at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises.

The Secret Army also was blamed for a near-miss attempt to kill De Gaulle with fire bombs as he drove to his country home last September and for a plot to assassinate him during a grass-roots provincial tour last June.

There are many Secret Army supporters among the hundreds of thousands of European refugees from Algeria. Secret Army leaders wanted by the French government, including former premier Georges Bidault, are believed to be directing activities from hideouts in Belgium, Austria and Switzerland.

It Was a Fine Day for presidential palaver in Dublin Wednesday. Former President Eisenhower and his host, Ireland's President Eamon de Valera, right, were the listeners as former Irish President Sean O'Kelly carried the conversational ball. Eisenhower and his party are winding up a long European tour with a visit to Ireland before returning home. (AP Wirephoto) under way with news from Kennedy that the U. S. nuclear submarines Skate and Seadragon, one from the Atlantic fleet and one from the Pacific, had met under the Arctic ice cap and had surfaced together through a hole at the North Pole. Kennedy called it "an historic rendezvous," an "exceptional technical feat," and congratulated all involved.

Kennedy Says U. S. Lagging On Space Issue

Considers New Trips

From there he went into a bid for Congress to hurry along approval of a farm bill, one to tighten drug laws, a constitutional amendment to outlaw poll taxes as a voting requirement in federal elections, his foreign trade bill without restrictive amendments, and a $100 million loan to the United Nations.

This was the right season to bring up political questions. And Kennedy said he will be putting in some time campaigning in late September and October. He described as useful a "nonpolitical trip"—he said it with straight face—to the West Coast last weekend and said a similar trip to such urban centers as Chicago, Cleveland and Philadelphia, to deal with urban problems, is under consideration.

Two questions involved Negroes. The President said he definitely feels that more than two of 87 federal circuit court judgeship U. S. ambassadors should be Negroes. And he said that Senate action on the nomination of Negro leader Thurgood Marshall to a

British Musicians Play No Favorites on Hill

FORT WILLIAM, Scotland (AP)—Twenty-eight young British musicians climbed to the top of Britain's highest mountain with their cellos, violins and horns and played "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The teen-age Dudley Youth Orchestra followed up with the Communist "Internationale" and Britain's "God Save the Queen." The concert Wednesday—described as "a gesture for peace"—took place on the summit of 4,406-foot Ben Nevis. The ceremony was part of a belated local observance of the 17th anniversary of V-J Day, Aug. 14.

Western occupation rights in the campaign to force the allies out of the city. Communist propaganda organs were expected to argue that the Soviets no longer needed a military authority in Berlin and neither did the Allies.

The United States, Britain and France took the view that the sudden switch of command on the Soviet side did not affect Western rights or the Soviet responsibility for what goes on in East Berlin.

President Kennedy told a news conference the Soviet Union could not affect rights of the four occupation powers by a one-sided decision.

Helps German Reds

The Soviet action, however, had the effect of severing connections between the Russians and the American, British and French commandants in Berlin. The Soviet commandant was the official to whom the Western commandants delivered protests against actions by the East German regime affecting West Berliners and Allied personnel in West Berlin, as well as protests against the shooting of East Germans trying to escape across the Berlin wall.

Western protests now must be made by Allied military commandants in West Germany to Yakubovsky, but the change presumably will have little actual effect. The Russian commandant in East Berlin invariably told his Allied counterparts to take their protests to the East German government, which the Allies refuse to recognize or do business with.

The American commander in West Germany is Gen. Paul L. Freeman Jr., whose headquarters

Religion's View Of International Role Discussed

Western Cause Not Synonymous With Good, Speaker Says

The forty participants in a four-day seminar on "Ethics and United States Foreign Policy" which began yesterday on the Lawrence College campus were treated in their opening session to a provocative discussion of "Religion and International Responsibility."

The relation between the two, said speaker James Finn, the Director of Publications for the Council on Religion and International Affairs, "is not as direct as some people would suggest, but neither is it non-existent, as others have asserted."

He reviewed three approaches taken by those who stand in the Judeo-Christian tradition of the western world toward what goes on in the rest of the world.

'Simple' Answers

The "crusaders," said Finn, see everything in terms of a simple religious problem wherein the good is synonymous with the Western cause; they write off the rest of the world as wholly evil.

Another group Finn called the "direct translators." They apply the clear injunctions of their personal ethics to the political realm, concentrating upon feeding the hungry, healing the sick, and doing good in the world. They skirt the subordinate issues of politics.

Still a third group, the "responsible correctors," while sharing the ultimate goals of the direct translators, possess "more sophisticated knowledge of political activities," Finn said. These people know that appeasement often fails, weakness invites attack, and good intentions may be inadequate guides to action.

Religious Insights

The question to be asked about this approach, Finn pointed out,

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, our drug called ODRINEX. You must lose up to 75% of your excess weight. No strenuous exercise. Laxatives, massage or taking of so-called reducing candies, crackers or cookies, or chewing gum ODRINEX is a tiny tablet and easily swallowed. When you take ODRINEX, you still enjoy your meals, still eat the foods you like, but you simply don't have the urge for extra portions because ODRINEX depresses your appetite and decreases your desire for food. Your weight must come down, because as your own doctor will tell you, when you eat less, you weigh less. Get rid of excess fat and live longer. ODRINEX costs $3.00 and is sold on this GUARANTEE: If not satisfied for any reason just return the package to your druggist and get your full money back. No questions asked. "But, Dad, not showing me your checkbook is censorship!"

is whether its insights into the complex problems of political life are basically religious ones. Its effectiveness on the international scene may be more the result of its educated grasp of political principles than of its origins in religious belief.

Finn concluded that "We cannot expect faith to do the work of reason." There is no such thing, he averred, as a simple, readily available "religious" answer to a world problem, just as there is no "one simple clear voice" of religion in our society, but many voices, "not only divided, but also divisive."

This does not relieve the religious man of his political responsibility. It means, rather, that the "religious man must bring his insights into the political arena so that the non-religious man can also find them useful."

Political Sphere

It is his task, said Finn, to discover what from his religious heritage can be used in the political sphere. Already infusing our Western society are a religiously-inspired public philosophy which places value upon human dignity, freedom, truth, and brotherly love, the concept of natural law, and a regard for prudence.

The speaker is a past associate editor of the magazine "The Commonweal." He now edits the monthly magazine "Worldview," a publication of the Council on Religion and International Affairs.

The campus seminar is jointly sponsored by Lawrence College and the University Extension Division of the University of Wisconsin, in cooperation with this council.

Lucey Clears Air on Policy

Democratic State
Chairman Explains
Views on Campaign

MADISON (AP) — Democratic State Chairman Patrick J. Lucey, noting that his advice to party schools that candidates should not legislate on the campaign trail

"engendered unanticipated editorial comment," said today that "this is not to say that Democrats should not discuss issues." In a statement issued from Democratic headquarters, Lucey said that "I appear to have become a victim of my own policy" in what he called making party decisions in public. "The reporter who quoted me as saying one should not legislate on the campaign trail quoted me accurately," he said. "Frankly, I have never heard a campaign speech or seen a party platform that read like a statute book." "The situation has now become so confused, that it is time to clear the air." "It is true that one should not legislate on the campaign trail. But this is not to say that Democrats should not discuss issues. We always have done so and we shall continue to do so." "If the campaign of Wisconsin Democrats this year does nothing else, it will present all significant

Appleton Firm Moving to Site On State 47

Floor Company Building $40,000 Store for Expansion

Laydwell Floors, 410 W. College Ave., Appleton, is moving to a new $40,000 store on State 47 between Valley Fair Shopping Center and Menasha, announced manager Carl Kobussen.

After 17 years in Appleton the floor covering firm is moving for expansion purposes. The new store, now under construction, is a 60 foot by 90 foot building enclosing 5,400 sq. ft. The added space will enable Laydwell to handle carpeting, paint and other merchandise in addition to the hard flooring material it now sells. Parking facilities will be available at the new location.

The new store will open Oct. 1 and the present building will be vacated by Wednesday.

Waupaca DA Incumbent Plans Campaign Dinner

WAUPACA — Edward R. Macklin, incumbent Democratic candidate for Waupaca County District Attorney, will initiate his campaign to retain office with a dinner at 8 p. m. Sept. 9 at the Rainbow Supper Club, New London, said Del Beno, his campaign manager.

Governor Gaylord Nelson, Democratic candidate for the senate will be guest of honor. Governor Nelson and Macklin will be introduced by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Huber, Clintonville, will be the master of ceremonies. Beno announced the appointments of Phillip Larmino, Clintonville as honorary campaign chairman, Charles E. Wody, Waupaca, as publicity chairman, and Howard Currier, New London, as program chairman.

Curler announced that Miss Penny Popovich would be the guest vocalist at the dinner. She played the part of Anna in the New London High school production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The King and I".

Oshkosh Youth Injured When Hit by Bus While Bicycling on U. S. 41

OSHKOSH — A 14-year-old Oshkosh boy was injured this morning when he was hit by a chartered bus while riding his bicycle on U.S. 41, south of the Ninth Street intersection.

Paul Penzenstadler, 310 Idaho St., was taken to Mercy hospital by Moore ambulance, suffering from bruises of his left leg, right arm and back. Driver of the bus was James Kobussen, 28, route 3, Kaukauna.

According to Winnebago County Police the youth was riding south on the traveled portion of the highway when struck from behind. The accident happened at 8:14 a.m.

Urban Research Man to Leave

Dr. T. F. Thompson, assistant professor of political science and member of the urban research team at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center will leave his present post on Sept. 1 to join the faculty of Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich., according to Vern J. Imhoff, center director.

Professor Thompson will join the political science department of Western Michigan to teach municipal government and administration at both the graduate and under-graduate level. He will inaugurate a program of public affairs education for civic leaders and officials.

Thompson, who came to the Fox Valley in August, 1960, has worked closely with the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, the Project 70 Committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. He has been an active student of Fox Cities governments and has worked closely with programs on local governmental problems.

"I will miss the good friends I have made in the Valley," the fessor said, "and always appreciate the help I received here in learning more about the complexity of municipal politics and administration."

"I am convinced that many of the difficulties inherent in the population expansion of this area are going to be lessened by the continued cooperation of the people of the Valley and the personnel of the university urban team."

Brown Enthusiastic Over Cleveland's New Look for NFL Season

Ernie Green Makes Big Impression in Exhibition Game

BY FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND (AP) — When an unemotional guy like Paul Brown gives his boss an ecstatic hug after winning an exhibition game you have to figure the Cleveland Browns a big threat in the National Football League.

Brown embraced owner Art Modell Saturday night after Cleveland belted Pittsburgh 3-10 in professional football's first doubleheader—and it wasn't because the bargain bill drew a rousing 77,683 crowd.

And it wasn't just because of the one-sided win, for in 32 seasons of coaching — high school, college, service and pro — Paul has seen his teams triumph 289 times while losing 69 and tying 14.

But, after five frustrating years off the football throne, he must have a hunch his rebuilt Browns are ready to make a run for the 1962 crown.

Fullback Jim Brown, the league's leading rusher the last five years, and pass-catching Ray Renfro are still in the backfield — but the rest of the ball-toting corps is new.

Jim Ninowski, traded to Detroit in 1960 and brought back in exchange for Milt Plum this year, is the No. 1 quarterback—and in two winning exhibitions has tossed

3 Teams Tied For First in Tavern League

KAUKAUNA — With one round of games remaining, a 3-way tie for first place developed in the 16-inch Tavern League Tuesday night.

Kappell's edged Peters' 1-0, Gertz' downed Ranch 9-2, and Powers' toppled Rich's 9-1 to give Kappell's, Peters' and Rich's 5-2 records.

Kappell's scored a run in the top of the first inning and then were held to four hits the remainder of the game, but managed to take a 1-0 decision. Lou Rogers, winning hurler, allowed six hits, but never let a man get beyond second base. Fran Gerow was losing pitcher.

Powers' tipped Rich's behind the 8-hit hurling of Jack Leddy. Vic Diedrich was the loser. Leddy tripped and Ranquette doubled for the winners. Gertz' tipped Ranch 9-2, with Bob LaPlante, winning hurler, allowing 10 hits and Jack to Danro, loser, permitting 11 safe-ties. Bob Van Drasek tripped in the while Don Steger doubled and tri-end zone, and his toe still has five touchdown passes, compared with a total of nine in two seasons with the Lions. Backing him up is Frank Ryan, a 4-year veteran with the Los Angeles Rams.

The loss of All-America Ernie Davis of Syracuse as a fleet-footed and powerful halfback was they wanto onJi mBrown, a damaging blow to the Browns' hopes Davis is out for the season with a blood disorder, and filling in for him is Tom Wilson, also a former Ram.

Of Wilson, Brown said: "He's a good inside runner. I like the idea of having a half-back you can run inside, and Tom is big and strong enough to do it. The other teams can line up all they want to on Jim Brown, now, Tom gives us a tremendous advantage."

Ernie Green, dealt to the Browns only last week by Green Bay, is one of the big surprises, and Brown says the newcomer is definitely in the halfback picture. Against the Steelers, in his first start, Green was a will-o'-the-wisp as he returned two kick-offs 88 yards and four punts for 79.

"We'll have a different look this year," Brown said. "Our quarterbacks are active and can run with the ball. Our youngsters are eager, and we have a lot of spirit. We've had a big turnover, but after not winning the last five years we felt we could afford to give it a different try."

Change Style

"We had counted heavily on Davis, and his loss forced us to change the entire style of play we had worked on for months. We gave up a lot to get Ernie when we traded Bobby Mitchell for him."

"But Wilson and Charley Scales, whom we got from Pittsburgh, must fill that halfback gap," Brown continued. "We got them rather cheaply — I wouldn't say they were castoffs, but the other clubs were willing to let them go. They seem to fit our style of play, and with Green moving into the picture we'll be all right at that spot."

One trade which will definitely help features Bill Glass, the defensive end picked up from Detroit in the Plum-Ninowski deal. Glass is out with minor injuries, but will be a defensive starter. Another defensive end is rookie Frank Parker, a 252-pound 6-5 stalwart from Broken Bow, Okla.

"Parker has the strength of a tripped and Ranquette doubled for the winners. Gertz' tipped Ranch 9-2, with Bob LaPlante, winning hurler, allowing 10 hits and Jack to Danro, loser, permitting 11 safe-ties. Bob Van Drasek tripped in the while Don Steger doubled and tri-end zone, and his toe still has

Galesville's Hogden Leads Wisconsin Trio in Junior Meet

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—John Hogden of Galesville, Wis., carded a 36-36—72 Wednesday in the opening round of the 17th International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament.

Hogden, who led the three Wisconsin entrants, was two strokes over par at Spring Valley Country Club and three strokes behind leader Jim Wiechers of Atherton, Calif. He was tied with five others for third place.

Don Iverson of La Crosse, the Wisconsin junior amateur champion had a round of 34-40—74. Dennis C. Berkholtz, Milwaukee, was not able to complete his first round because of darkness.

McMillan May Return Only Three Regulars in Braves' Lineup

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hank Aaron, Lee Maye and Frank Bolling were the only regulars in the lineup Wednesday night when the Milwaukee Braves started their game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Eddie Mathews and Del Crandall came off the bench for pinch-batting turns and contributed to a three-run eighth inning rally that gave the Braves a 6-4 victory.

Mathews missed a starting turn for the second straight night while Crandall was given a rest to give Joe Torre some work.

Also out of action were Joe Adcock, Roy McMillan and Cecil Butler, the young hurler who looked very good early in the season.

A leg muscle injury will keep Adcock out of action indefinitely. Butler will not pitch again this season. His sore right elbow will be re-examined in a couple of weeks to decide whether surgery will be needed.

McMillan is about ready to return to the lineup, but there is no assurance Mathews, having trouble with his shoulder, will be ready to play in the weekend series with the Cubs.

Injuries also continue to keep the Cards off balance, especially injuries to Minnie Minoso, looked to early in the season as the club's power hitter.

Minoso learned Wednesday that

Chicago Cubs Add Coach In Shuffle

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs added their 12th coach Wednesday and reshuffled the strategy staff by sending four coaches on a 3-week tour of the minors.

Charlie Metro remains as head coach in the club's unique managerless system. Leaving his staff are El Tappe, Lou Klein, Fred Martin and Buck O'Neil.

Called up to the parent club are coaches Bobby Adams, Rip Collins and newcomer Mel Wright, who has been the pitching coach at Salt Lake City.

Tappe joins the San Antonio club, Martin goes to Salt Lake City, Klein to Wenatchee, Wash., and O'Neil to St. Cloud, Minn.

Adams reports from Wenatchee and Collins from St. Cloud.

Concert at Fish Creek Finest in Years

Donald Gramm, Harpist Lise Nadeau In Excellent Form

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service
FISH CREEK — Bass-baritone Donald Gramm was at his suave artistic best in his second Peninsula Music Festival appearance here Wednesday night.
He had to be. One of his lines in Aaron Copland's sprightly set of old American songs—"I Hear Them Harps A-Strummin'" — It will be given if an agreement turned into a prophetically close between the city and Trinity Lutheran Church is signed.
Lise Nadeau, a blonde slip of a harpist little more than half his age, was a soloist, too. In a rip-tor small children attending the pling, joyous performance of Handel's B-flat harp concerto, she not see traffic at the intersection gave the recent Vera Wardner Douglas award winner a hot run. The hedge is along the curb.

for his laurels right down to the last, fading chord.
The soloists didn't run away with all the honors, however. The orchestra caught fire to make the program an exciting and completely satisfying experience.
With soloists, conductor and ensemble fused in a bright flame of excellence, it was one of those rare and luminous evenings when everything is right and superlatives glow as brightly as the music. The program was the finest of the past three seasons, if not in the entire history of the festival.

Permission to Keep Hedge Not Granted

KAUKAUNA — A story in the Aug. 8 issue of the Post-Crescent reported that the Kaukauna City Council had granted Paul West, 730 Grignon St., Kaukauna, permission to keep the hedge around his home.

Permission was not granted. It will be given if an agreement turned into a prophetically close between the city and Trinity Lutheran Church is signed.

There have been complaints harpist little more than half his age, was a soloist, too. Bat in Belfry At City Hall Disrupts Work Appleton's city hall has "bats in its belfry" — literally.

One of the bats proved the fact Tuesday night when it made its presence known at a meeting of the Welfare and Ordinance Committee in the city council chambers.

Committee members and several people who were viewing a movie on building materials prepared by the National Home Builders Association were up and down ducking the furry, flying rodent.

To say the least, the bat's presence upset the decorum of several people, especially the ladies.

Hero of the Hour
Finally, the bat flew out of the chambers and into a corridor. Ald. Harold Hanneman, chairman of the committee, then became the hero of the hour.

He leaped over a railing, ran to the door, slammed it shut, ran back, leaped over the railing again, and slammed another door shut on the other side of the room.

Then Ald. Hanneman relaxed and so did everyone else, especially the ladies.

Waupaca Tot Dies From Suffocation

WAUPACA — Linda Marie Orr, 7-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Orr, route 3, Waupaca, suffocated in bed sometime between 8 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Wednesday night.

Her mother discovered her wrapped in her blankets at 8:30 p.m. Mrs. Orr said she had checked the baby only a half hour earlier.

She said when she saw the child wasn't breathing, she attempted to call the fire department, but had telephone trouble and couldn't make a connection until 8:45 p.m.

When firemen arrived, they tried to revive the child with mouth-to-mouth respiration and with the resuscitator. Examining physician Dr. M. O. Boudry pronounced the child dead.

The body was taken to the Bammel Funeral Home, Waupaca.

Merchant Moves Vegetable Stand

An independent fruit and vegetable merchant, Philip Mathes, who has been selling garden vegetables on city property near Washington and Division streets for several years, has moved to a private lot on Brewster and Meade streets.

Police Chief E. O. Wolff said the man, who had been asked to move by the Appleton council, voluntarily left the W. Washington Street stand Tuesday.

Wolff said papers ordering the removal of Mathes from the site had been prepared, but were not served.

"I've Been Standing here holding my nose for five minutes now. It's getting hard to breathe. Besides, those kids in the line are getting impatient. And mad. I'll show them. Here I go. Feet first No, I'm scared. Maybe I could just take my fingers off my nose and get off the board. But then they'll laugh at me. I think I'll just stand here for awhile. Maybe they'll leave."

Thoughts in the Minds of young swimmers on a 90-degree day: "Who pulled the plug? There should be water down there. That's an awfully big hole. Awfully hard, too. How did I get up here in this crazy position anyway? I don't think I like to swim anymore. I particularly don't like to dive. I wish I was home." (Actually there is a pool beneath him, and there is water in it. It's only the photography that makes it look otherwise.)

"They Told Me This is the way to do a swan dive. I'm pretty skeptical. Those kids watching me are pretty skeptical too. I'd like to just fold up and go into the water like a rock. But I've gotta make this look good. Cummon, get that chest out there. Oh heck with it. I'm a rock." (Post-Crescent Photos by Marshall Savick)

Police Force Sitdown Strikers Out of Banks
GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP) — Troops, police and firemen broke into Guayaquil's banks Wednesday and dislodged sitdown strikers who had seized the buildings and locked themselves in. Troops and police used battering rams and torches. Firemen went up ladders to throw tear gas at strikers barricaded on upper floors. The strikers afterward tried to storm the front drive but police dispersed them. The bank workers demand higher wages and better working conditions.

Chevrolet Big Car Line Shows Most Changes

Corvette Also Gets New '63 Styling; Aerocoupe Added

CHICAGO Daily News Service
DETROIT — The Chevrolet division of General Motor's Corp. displayed its 1963 line during a press preview at its Milburn proving ground near here Wednesday.

Biggest style changes appear in the division's big car line—the Impala, Biscayne and Bel Air series—and in the Corvette. Chevy II and Corvair have only slight changes, mainly in trim and grilles.

Chevrolet has reduced its lines by two models while adding one in the Corvette series. The division offers 33 models. Gone are the Chevy II 6-cylinder Nova and the Bel Air hardtop models. Both were axed because of poor sales.

New Electrical System
Across-the-line changes include increase of lubrication interval to 6,000 miles and an increase of oil change time from 1,000 miles to 6,000 miles or 60 days.

A new electrical system using an alternating current generator is on all lines but the Corvair, which keeps the standard direct current system.

Style changes in the Impala, Biscayne and Bel Air lines include a new top, redesigned front fenders and a wider grille that extends through the headlights.

Corvette, virtually unchanged in its general appearance since it came out 10 years ago, has a distinct new look. New in the Corvette line is the Aerocoupe, a hardtop featuring a roof line that slopes sharply off at the rear.

Fenders, wheel cutouts and window lines all are drawn back to create an effect of movement. The Corvette still comes in a convertible model with a removable hardtop offered at no extra cost.

Under-the-hood changes for both lines include self-adjusting brakes, available for several years on the big Chevrolets, a new front suspension system and steering linkage and a newly-designed exhaust system that is expected to have longer life.

The 1963 Chevrolet line will go on sale Sept. 28.

Woman Takes Religious Vows

Two women from Askeaton, Brown County, have taken steps in the sisterhood.

Sister Mary Barbara, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Brick, made her final vows as a Glenmary Home Mission Sister of America at Fayetteville, Ohio. She was one of six women in the ceremony.

Sister Barbara has been assigned secretarial, library and choir duties at Christ the King Convent, Fayetteville. Her brother, Frater Carlton, S. D. S., Lanham, Md., was present for the ceremonies.

Margaret Mary Brick was one of 14 women receiving the habit and coat of the Congregation of St. Agnes, Fond du Lac. The aspirant is preparing to become a teacher. In religious life she will be known as Sister Mary Brenda.

Smallpox Vaccination Needed to Enter U. S.

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

A traveler from Asia (reports the magazine "Modern Medicine") arrived in London, then became ill. Smallpox!

Within three weeks, 14 cases of confirmed smallpox occurred. Six victims died.

This is the whole answer to the complaints people make about having to get smallpox vaccinations before going abroad. (Well, strictly speaking you can go abroad without the shot, but you can't get back into the United States without proof of having had such a vaccination within three years).

People often say, "But I've been vaccinated for smallpox. I can show you the scar."

Shot Wears Off

If they only knew how many adults show a "take" they would change their minds. For immunity gradually wears off, and having been vaccinated as a child doesn't mean that you are still safe. When the repeated vaccination "takes," it is proof that you were not immune any longer.

Until the recent case of the missionary's son who passed through New York City en route to Canada was reported, the United States had not had a confirmed case of smallpox since 1949.

This is not because everybody here is immune. It is estimated that perhaps as many as 25 per cent of our school children have not been vaccinated. How many adults no longer are immune is a question.

Disease Could Spread

We are being protected by this rigid regulation permitting no one to enter the country without having been recently vaccinated. We are, so far, successful in not letting the disease come in. If a case did get in, it could spread!

The World Health Organization is devoting great effort to keeping track globally of cases of smallpox, plague, typhus, relapsing fever.

We are today on the brink of new vaccines for virus diseases, the polio vaccine and the flu vaccines being, it now seems, forerunners of others within the realm of possibility.

Don't Forget

But it wouldn't hurt us to keep in mind the older vaccines, to take stock of our individual needs, and be revaccinated.

Vaccination against smallpox was the first vaccine to be discovered. It has been called, with considerable reason, the medical disaster.

covery that has saved more lives than any other single one.

Smallpox can still be fatal, unless we maintain our vigilance.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 29 and want to have my right eye straightened. It has been turned in all my life. I want it corrected more than anything in the world, but could the operation endanger my life? — P.A.T.

This type of surgery rates as minor and is not dangerous. It is just about possible to guarantee that the eye will not only look better but see better, too.

Dear Dr. Molner: Since having a cold, I have not been able to smell or taste anything. Is this a serious condition or can it be cured? — MRS. L.P.

It is not too unusual following flu or a hard cold, and the sense of smell returns when it gets ready to do so. Not much can be done to speed it up.

Chews Gum

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a friend who eats chewing gum, just like eating candy, from 5 to 15 sticks a day. I tell her it will kill her. She says she needs it to settle her nerves. — A.L.

No, it won't kill her. Why don't you find a confirmed alcoholic to worry about, and stop trying to frighten the gum out of your friend?

Managing Huge New U. S. Debt Great Problem

Treasury Must Keep Paying Off As Loans Mature

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—In a year marked by disappointments that some phases of the economy fell short of expected heights the U.S. debt is an exception. Just as it has risen above $300 billion for the first time.

Managing this huge debt is a colossal task in itself, since it changes from day to day, with some part almost always about to mature, and since it influences activities go on constantly, with interest rates and financing of many other forms of debt, from state and local governments to corporate, mortgage and personal debt.

And even the proper distribution of the federal debt among various types of investors—banks, corporations, institutions, individuals—can be a problem, changing as the business cycle does.

Sees Midwinter Peak
The federal debt is expected to go on rising for a time, perhaps reaching a peak in midwinter, and then drop as the Treasury's seasonal flow of tax collections increases.

Beyond that is the possibility of even higher peaks for the debt— if tax rates are cut next year as now proposed, and if government expenditures should rise notably to combat a recession which some economists think probable in 1963. Other contingencies, which the Treasury always must keep in mind, are sudden international events which could increase expenditures for defense or for the race in space.

Already the Treasury spends more than $9 billion a year for interest on the debt. It has a very practical concern with the trend of interest rates.

The prospect is bleak enough to the traditional American way of thinking which labels debt as wrong and balanced budgets as a cherished goal. Individual experience is that personal budgets long out of balance lead to disaster.

But there is a new school of thinking, growing more articulate, which holds that a $300-billion government debt isn't as bad as it seems to some, and that balanced budgets under some conditions are harmful.

This school compares the $300-billion debt not with past levels of indebtedness but with the national income and with total national assets. This way the debt shows a smaller percentage now than in some past eras. It is smaller per capita than in the previous debt peak at the end of World War II because the debt has grown at a slower rate than the population.

In other words, these economists hold that we can afford a $300-billion federal debt.

Must Keep Trying
But the immediate problem for the Treasury is this: It must keep eternally at paying it off, even when it is going further into debt.

At the individual's level this shows up in the sale and redemption of U.S. savings bonds. These mature, and since they go on constantly, with interest rates and financing of many other forms of debt, from state and local governments to corporate, mortgage and personal debt.

Each week the Treasury must also pay off more than a billion dollars worth of short-term bills coming due. It does this by offering new ones, and as often as not swap new ones for old—and sometimes raises a little more money to boot.

Also longer-term notes and bonds mature at frequent intervals and must be paid. Here also the Treasury usually offers to swap new ones for old—and sometimes raises a little more money to boot.

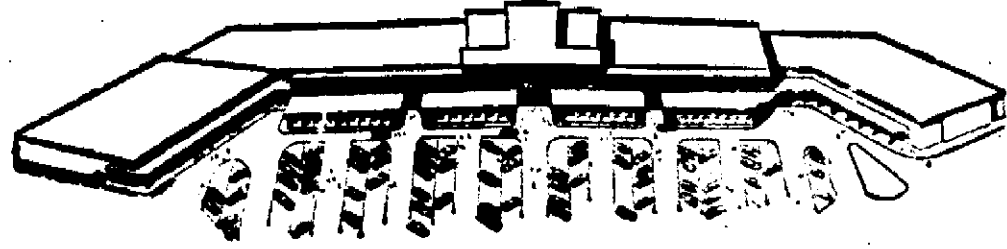

That's how the debt grows. And each time, the types of offerings—long- or short-term—and the type of investor to whom they appeal all affect the economy by touching its very sensitive nerve, the money market.

Gasoline on Grill Causes Home Damage

KAUKAUNA—A home owned by Daniel Verboten, 808 Blackwell St., was scorched by flames from an outdoor grill about 4:30 p.m. Monday.

According to firemen who were called to extinguish the blaze, the accident occurred after Mrs. Verboten threw gasoline onto a charcoal grill in an attempt to start the coals. The gasoline ignited and the high flames scorched the side of the house.

State Welfare Officials Tour Reformatory

Director Reports Severe Overcrowding At Green Bay Prison

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—A continued growth in population at the Wisconsin state reformatory near Green Bay and the administrative problems resulting from severe overcrowding highlighted the annual report of Superintendent M. A. Skaff filed with the state department of public welfare.

Welfare department officials toured the reformatory Wednesday, with the members of the state board of welfare, on an annual inspection.

Skaff said a new all-time peak of population was established last March, when the total reached 1,139, and that the average daily population during the last year has also broken all past records. The peak population did not include the transfers to the Flambeau state forestry camp in upper Wisconsin.

There will be some relief from crowding at the institution with the opening soon of the new Wisconsin Correctional Institution, a medium security facility now nearing completion at a site near Fox Lake, in Dodge County. About 100 reformatory inmates will be transferred to the new prison, Skaff estimated.

Among the more optimistic items in the Skaff report were disclosures that the percent of reformatory inmates returned for parole violations has been less during the last year, at about 27 per cent, and that the number and percentage of inmates escaping from confinement was below the figure of other years.

The parole program of the institution has been expanded. Of the current population at the reformatory, only 34 men have been confined continuously for more than two years and only six have been there for more than three years, the institution statistical summary indicated.

U. S. Tobacco Types

In addition to flue-cured and burley, the U. S. Department of Agriculture lists nine other types of tobacco grown in the United States. They are fire-cured, Southern, Maryland, Kentucky and Tennessee dark air-cured, Virginia sun-cured, cigar filler, Puerto Rican filler, cigar binder, cigar wrapper and miscellaneous domestic.

Iron Will of Batista Mellowing Under Warm Portuguese Sunlight

LISBON, Portugal — The iron will of Fulgencio Batista, former strong man of Cuba, is mellowing under the warm Portuguese sun. He said, moving his hand in a gesture of resignation. But he added: "Perhaps it is as well, for I am getting old. I am 60 now."

His 19-year-old son, Jorge, a handsome, friendly and intelligent youth, received me warmly at the villa in Estoril, but his father was reluctant to grant an interview. "I do not give interviews, because Cuba is in a torment and its people divided," he explained. "I will talk with you, but not now."

His hatred of Fidel Castro, "the traitorous butcher, the man of 10,000 lies," was quick to pierce the ban on political talk. "Everything that was good in Cuba has been destroyed," he explained. "The same evils of all Communist countries are now found in Cuba — slavery, hunger and misery. The things that all the world now sees were clear to me before Castro's betrayal. He was the killer of hundreds whom my government was slanderously accused of killing."

"It was but one of the lies of Castro. His propaganda claimed that he built the 17 hospitals, the hundreds of schools and thousands of homes that I built — in six months it was said he built them."

People Believe Lies
"To build a hospital takes a year, and to equip it and staff it another year. How could he do it in six months? And yet, even in the United States some people believed these lies."

Reminded that he was now on nine hours' flying time from Miami — four hours by sun time, and that Havana was only an hour's flight from Miami, he shook his head slowly and thoughtfully. There was no smile on his lips.

"Even with a return of good government and individual freedom, it would take several years to restore the economy and the affairs of the people," he said. "Everything has been destroyed. Cuba is no longer a country, but a pawn of international Communism."

Batista presented a copy of his book, "Cuba Betrayed." Read it, he said, and learn of the events leading up to his flight into exile on New Year's Day, 1959.

"I have just completed my second book, 'Laws and Stone,'" he stated. "It describes Cuba's place in the family of nations. The English translation will be ready for the publisher in August."

"And now I am writing my memoirs. It is difficult, for my records were left in Havana, but I have done a great deal of research and I have an elaborate file of newspapers and magazines."

Any Happiness
Is there any happiness for him in exile?
"All things are relative, and I am relatively happy here," he replied.

"I am grateful to the people of Portugal. They treat me well, and I am given my freedom. I spend some time visiting as well as writing."

There is little to distinguish his home in exile from other villas around it. It is walled, but so are the others. The gate is locked and a doorbell brings a maid who takes a message. It is comfortable but not elaborately furnished.

When I sent my name in, Jorge came bounding out, delighted to see someone from Miami. We chatted about his school in Switzerland, his studies, others in the family. He recalled the dreadful night in Havana when his mother told him: "Jorge, put on your coat, we are going to the airport." And the family flew into exile.

Foods to Savor When Summer's Long Gone

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

With the late summer harvest in full swing, it's time for canning those family specialties that spark the meals of winter and those long months before the next growing season.

Home canning doesn't have to be an endlessly, tiring chore . . . the day of widespread home canning is over with all the varieties of excellent commercially canned and frozen foods available. Yet, there's something rewarding about having shelves lined with jars of fresh fruit, juices, jams and jellies if they are specialties of the house . . . an unusual recipe . . . a luxury food . . . or time-honored family "receptis."

There's also something nice about giving and receiving an excellent, home canned or preserved food as a gift during the year . . . a thoughtful gift from the creative cook to a favorite friend or relative.

Now's the time to consider such fruits as peaches . . . the Michigan Redhaves already are past their prime but the Kathavens, Fairhavens and Elbertas are at their market peak. Then there are those luscious Italian Prunes from Washington state (we call 'em purple plums around here) that are selling by lug and pound. This superb fruit is tangy yet sweet, requires no peeling, is practically freestone with little or no core. The Deep Purple Conserve recipe today is really worth trying.

Pears also are beginning to arrive in economical quantity and soon will be ready for processing. Apples will be coming along later.

Perhaps one of the tastiest of recipes for gift-giving and stashing away for winter and spring use is Chow Chow. Its origin is Pennsylvania Dutch from such localities as Lancaster, Bird-in-hand and King of Prussia. Pa. here cooking, baking and preserving is a fine art for trying and for clipping.

Pears, Peaches and Apples canned in season are sparkling treats to enjoy later. The fruits are kept from turning brown by using ascorbic acid mixture in both the preparation of the fruit and in the syrup.

Once tried, you won't part with these:

- Chow Chow
8 cups green beans
8 cups shelled lima beans
1 bunch carrots, pared and sliced
1 large head cauliflower
4 ears sweet corn
2 pounds green tomatoes
3 green peppers

- 2 pounds small white onions
3 cups sugar
1 cup salt
3 tablespoons celery seed
3 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons dry mustard
1 tablespoon turmeric powder
3 quarts vinegar
2 tablespoons Tabasco sauce

Place whole green beans, shelled limas and carrot slices in a deep kettle. Break up cauliflower, cut corn from cob. Add to vegetables. Add water to cover and bring to boil. Then reduce heat and cook 25 minutes. Drain.

While above vegetables are cooking, coarsely chop green tomatos and green peppers. Peel onions. Reserve.

Mix together sugar, salt, celery seed, mustard seed, dry mustard and turmeric in deep kettle. Add vinegar. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until sugar dissolves.

Stir in Tabasco sauce. Add drained vegetables, chopped vegetables and peeled onions. Cook together for 25 minutes. Spoon into sterilized jars, seal. Recipe yields seven quarts of Chow Chow.

Canned Peaches, Pears or Apples

Whether peaches, pears or apples are being canned the same general directions apply to all of them. It is wise to learn the directions before starting. Pears need a thin syrup and peaches or apples are best with a medium syrup.

It takes but eight steps to can these fruits. Remember that pears or other fruits that may turn brown (peaches and apples included) may be kept bright by using the helpful ascorbic acid mixture now on the market both during preparation of the fruit and in the syrups.

Here are the canning steps:

1. Wash jars and lids in hot soapy water. Rinse and drain.
2. Make the syrup with one to

The Pennsylvania Dutch people eat heartily and make the most of their rich bounty of soil. During the summer when they harvest lima beans, carrots, string bean, peppers and corn, they make Chow Chow. It's a delicious combination of vegetables, vinegar and seasonings that make for good eating all year long as relish, side dish or salad.

Carrots are Versatile Vegetable

The carrot sometimes is referred to as the vegetable of all trades because it's used in so many dishes.

Carrots appear in stews, chowders, vegetable and nut loaves. They accompany pot roasts. They combine with peas and even scalloped apples. Carrots can be used in custards and souffles.

When buying carrots, look for ones that are firm and clean, and fresh in appearance. They should be smooth and well shaped. Bright orange is the most desirable color.

If you're cooking carrots you can plan on getting five half-cup servings from a pound of carrots. But if you use carrots raw and shredded you can stretch a pound to eight half-cup servings.

If you must pare carrots, pare or scrape them lightly so you won't waste any food unnecessarily. Young carrots usually don't need paring.

Have the water boiling before putting carrots in to cook. With young carrots use just enough water to keep them from sticking. With older carrots use just enough water to cover.

They'll cook quicker if you cover the pan. Cook them just until tender . . . about 15 minutes for young carrots, older ones need at least 20 minutes cooking time. Of course, slicing and dicing will cut down the cooking time.

Don't Fight It

If hot weather depresses you don't fight it by trying to maintain routine housekeeping activities. For instance, on humid days, don't wash clothes. If you must wash, don't dry the laundry inside the house unless you have a vented dryer. The moisture you add to the air in the house may be contributing as much as the weather to your discomfort.

Cold Soups Tempt Lagging Appetites

BY MALCOLM HERBERT
Chicago Daily News Service

Hot weather is not for gourmets. Appetites are dulled. Nothing seems to taste right.

Those heavy courses of yesterday are taboo in the hot humid weather.

And so, these are busy days for chefs, who must compete with the weather to keep the discriminating gourmet happy. And they do through the magic of the "special."

ty of summertime—cold soups. The bible of gourmets, Larousse Gastronomique devotes 23 pages to soups and lists dozens of cold soups for light summer dining.

Cold soups have long played an important part in menu planning. All the great banquets of the past have listed a cold soup on the menu. Some list the service of a cold soup at the end of the meal. Some have to be pureed either by passing them through a fine sieve or putting them into a blender. They are excellent for light lunches and fit perfectly with a light supper.

Consomme Yvonne
2 cans consomme (undiluted), chilled
1 pint sour cream
2 tablespoons chopped chives
Dilute consomme with two cans of cold water. Stir until well mixed. Ladle soup into bowls or cups. Mix sour cream with chives. Place a generous spoonful in the center of the consomme. Serve with crackers. Recipe makes six servings.

Chicken Consomme Fine Herbs
2 cans chicken consomme or broth
1 pinch basil
1 pinch oregano
1 pinch thyme
1 pinch tarragon
1 pinch parsley
Dilute consomme with an equal amount of water. Add basil, oregano, thyme, tarragon and parsley. Bring to boil, simmer five minutes. Strain through a fine sieve, chill and serve. Recipe makes six servings.

Consomme Mallick
2 cans chicken consomme, chilled
2 tablespoons chopped hard-cooked egg
2 tablespoons chopped green olives

Dilute consomme with an equal amount of cold water. Combine eggs and olives, sprinkle on top of the consomme. Recipe makes six servings.

Hamper Hints For Laundry

Fragile personal laundry, such as hose and lingerie, should be kept separate from the regular family wash. To do this use a piece of heavy cardboard to divide the clothes hamper into compartments.

This protects against snags, and Wonderful as a Garnish for meat or as a luscious spread on bread, hot buttered muffins or rolls, is this Deep Purple Conserve. It's made from Italian prunes (purple plums), orange and lemon peel and chopped walnuts. Decide to Lose Trick

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you have to lose a trick sooner or later try to decide which way you'd rather lose it. Sooner may be much better than later.

Declarer won the opening club lead in dummy with the jack and led a trump at once. East played the low, South put up the king of trumps, and West signalled with the eight of spades.

There you have the outline of the plot. South surely had to lose a spade trick sooner or later, and the signal made it clear that West held the ace of spades. Did it make any difference when South lost the spade?

South didn't even think about the spades. He got back to dummy with the king of clubs and led another trump. East stepped up with the ace of trumps and led a spade to West's ace. West then led another club, and East defeated the contract by ruffing.

Clear Threat
The danger of a club ruff should have been very clear. One of the opponents was bound to be short in clubs. That opponent could get a ruff if he had a trump and if he could get the lead to his partner after his clubs were exhausted.

It was clear that East had trumps and that he could get the lead to his partner with the ace of spades. South could prevent the ruff only by using up the ace of spades before East was out of clubs.

At the third trick, after discovering the trump situation, South should lead the king of spades from his hand. West takes the ace of spades but can do no damage at this stage. South can later reach dummy with a club to lead another trump through East.

What if West takes the ace of spades and leads a diamond? South must continue his plan by taking the ace of diamonds and returning a diamond at once. He must not leave a way for East to reach the West hand at a time when he is ready to ruff a club.

Question Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold S A 8 6 5 4 H None D Q 8 5 3 2 C 10 9 8. What do you say?

Answer: Bid four spades. This shows strong trump support and fine distribution with not more than 9 points in high cards. The idea is to reach game but not to encourage a slam try.

Clean Air

Families living in air conditioned homes report cleaning-expense savings ranging from $30 to $550 a year. Draperies and upholstery look fresh for a much longer time when the air in the house is clean. Windows can be kept closed as fresh air circulates through the system which filters out soot, grime and irritating pollens.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Voelz were married in a 4:30 p.m. double ring ceremony Saturday at the Methodist Church, Wittenberg. The bride is the former Miss Judy Liscombe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liscombe, Wittenberg. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Voelz, Bowler.

Auxiliary Hears Program by Youth

Miss Alice Dillon and Miss Pat Riley, Badger Girls State delegates, and Richard Bunn, who attended Badger Boys State, presented the program when the American Legion Auxiliary met at 7:45 p.m. Monday at the clubhouse. They were introduced by Mrs. Dan Haase, acting Americanism chairman.

Mrs. Edward Amdt Jr., a Unit member recently elected Department Chaplain for 1962-63, was introduced by president Mrs. Lena Luniak. Mrs. Amdt will also serve as Department Junior Activities chairman.

Reports were given by delegates who attended the state convention in Oshkosh. The unit was cited for having the largest junior membership in the state. The publicity book won a second place award and Mrs. William Brinkman was honored for her outstanding work as District radio and TV chairman.

Plans to participate in the American Legion Ninth District Bowling Tournament in Pulaski were announced.

Will Help Fund Drive

James Mauthe, chairman of the Outagamie Citizens for Retarded Children and Mrs. Martin Brock, city chairman, told of plans to assist with the fund drive. The unit will distribute material and help solicit in five city wards during the last week of September. Mrs. Gordon Simon, Community service chairman, will direct the project.

Mrs. Clifford Rondou, Civil Defense chairman, announced that eight members assisted with assembling the new Civil Defense book compiled by Lee Penny, County chairman. Legislative chairman, Mrs. Elmer Spangler, reported on Legion sponsored bills and amendments adopted by the House and Senate.

Plans for the Fall Education Conference Sept. 26 at Green Bay were announced. Presidents, secretaries, child welfare and rehabilitation chairmen will attend schools of instruction. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Sherman Kapp until Sept. 16. She will take reservations for the County Council meeting at Seymour until Sept. 13.

Social hour committee members were Mrs. Eugene Hoffman, chairman, Mrs. James Davis, Mrs. Sylvester Lynch, Mrs. Hermina Landry and Mrs. Morris Olson.

Correction

The reception honoring Sister Mary Pius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Broeren, route 1, Greenleaf, will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday at her parent's home. The time was incorrectly stated in Tuesday's Post-Crescent.

Designing Woman

BY ELIZABETH HILLER

Rug Cutting, Fall Style

The day to buy a new rug comes a lot sooner in most houses when practical use can be made of the old one. A large old rug is likely to stay where it is too long, awaiting an idea of what else to do with it. The idea might very well be to cut smart small rugs from it. Small rugs are so fashionable now, there are always places for them and ideal remodeling can mean that the purchase of a beautiful new rug needn't be postponed.

Many of the new ready-made small rugs are cut from so-called "carpet roll stock," so any rug cut from the pile carpet or rug on the living room or dining room floor now would be the same kind. Changes of shape and fringe trimming make the small sizes appealing. Oval and round rugs are favorites, and Miss Hiller at this newspaper

Is there a room at your house that does not look right, but you don't know why? Spot the trouble with the help of Elizabeth Hiller's new booklet "What's Wrong with That Room?" It's a quick check-list of common room faults that tells how to correct them. For your copy of the booklet, please send 15 cents and a stamp. Sizes appealing. Oval and round rugs are favorites, and Miss Hiller at this newspaper

Pamper Birds With New Bath

A 12-inch red clay saucer makes an attractive, inexpensive bird bath. Apply a thick coating of floor wax to the inner surface of the saucer so it will be waterproof, then nail a 12-inch square or circle of wood to the end of an old broomstick.

Once you fill the saucer with water, you won't have long to wait for birds to appear. You'll find they will make your bird bath a regular stop for both drinking and bathing, if you fill it daily.

Visitor Returns

George O'Connell, professor of art at the University of Maryland, Baltimore, Md. has returned to insert the other end of the his home in Washington, D.C. broomstick firmly in the soil of after a visit with his mother, a flower bed or in your lawn. Mrs. R. J. Schlueter, 1325 E. Cal and place the clay saucer on top of the broomstick.

Waffle Bakers Are Versatile

BY MARY-BETH KUESTER

Home Economist
Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.
Today's modern waffle bakers do much more than bake breakfast waffles golden brown. They can be used for desserts such as luscious Coconut Waffles or for grilling supper sandwiches. Waffle bakers with reversible grids can be used to fry eggs and bacon or grill lamb chops.

Miss Kuester

to prevent sticking. Grids may be specially treated but it still helps to follow this procedure:
Put one-fourth teaspoon salad oil or melted unsalted shortening into each section of the waffle grids. Brush thoroughly onto all the exposed surfaces. Close grill. Set temperature control on medium, and heat until signal light goes out, about five minutes. Slide control to Off. Open grill and allow to cool. Wipe off excess shortening with clean soft cloth or paper toweling.

For waffle baking success, always follow recipe instructions exactly. Always cool with grill open so that small amounts of you'll want to season the grids food and fat will not burn onto grids. Opening baker before waffles are done breaks the waffles and causes sticking.

If a packaged mix or a recipe that does not call for shortening is used, add at least one-fourth cup melted shortening to each batch of waffles to prevent sticking. It's best not to increase the amount of sugar in a recipe. If the family likes sweet waffles, try a dessert type.

Coconut Cake Waffles

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup shortening
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon lemon extract
 $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 cup shredded coconut
Place shortening, sugar, egg and lemon extract in small mixing bowl. Beat at medium speed with electric mixer, scraping sides and bottom of bowl with rubber scraper. Beat until fluffy, about two minutes.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Working quickly, add flour mixture alternately with milk to beaten mixture, beating at low speed for two minutes. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl while beating. Stir in coconut.

Preheat waffle baker, setting at medium heat. Spread one cup batter evenly over grids. Bake until signal light goes out. Bake remaining batter, cup by cup. Cool waffles. Top with ice cream or fruit. The waffles also may be cut in pieces to serve as cookies.

Grilled Ham Toasties

1 cup finely chopped cooked ham
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles
2 teaspoons sweet pickle juice
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
8 slices bread
2 eggs, beaten slightly
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons shortening
Combine ham, pickles, pickle juice, mustard and mayonnaise. Mix thoroughly. Spread mixture on four slices of bread; cover with four remaining slices.
Combine egg, milk and salt. Preheat grill to high, opening grids out flat. Place one teaspoon shortening on each side.
Dip both sides of sandwiches into egg mixture, being careful that bread is just moistened. Place two sandwiches on each grid. Toast three to five minutes on one side; turn and repeat on second side.

The Ever Popular bacon and tomato sandwich becomes extra-special when canned chicken gravy, heated and well-flavored with peanut butter, is added to it.

Old Favorite Assumes New Sandwich Role

Take one favorite, such as bacon and tomato sandwiches, and add another such as peanut butter and you'll have a lively crowd heating a path to the kitchen. Sandwiches long have been popular with young fry and teens, but this one will top them all. Canned gravy that's been liberally flavored with creamy peanut butter turns ordinary bacon and tomato sandwiches into something extra special.

Here's the recipe:
Sandwich Supreme
1 can chicken gravy
3 tablespoons peanut butter
8 slices tomato
4 slices toast
12 slices bacon, cooked and drained
In saucepan, blend chicken grady and peanut butter. Heat, stirring occasionally. Arrange two slices tomato on each slice of toast. Top with bacon. Pour gravy over sandwiches. Recipe makes four open-faced sandwiches, excellent for luncheon or supper.

Stop Smoking By Bathing

The famous Battle Creek Sanitarium in Michigan advises heavy smokers to take more baths while trying to cut down on or to stop smoking. These authorities suggest at least two or three 15-20 minute baths each day. The psychology behind this idea is to substitute another luxury for the one you are giving up.

Man Disagrees That 'Closest Of Kin' Listing Means Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My family and I are involved in a friendly argument. We agreed to let you settle it. I claim on army records and such where it says "nearest of kin" the wife should be listed. If he is married, my husband says a wife is not nearest of kin. According to support his argument he claims to him it is a man's mother. To a man is no kin to his wife at all, except through marriage.

We are waiting for your answer to settle it.—Little Rock nearest of kin, for a married man, is his wife.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently sympathized with physicians who are nabbed in church or at parties, by people who want free medical advice. Now will you give the same break to the poor maligned police officer?

Whenever my husband and I stop at the local pub for a relaxing drink even though he is in civilian clothes the word gets around that he is John Law and then the complaints begin. They usually start like this: "Some lousy copper gave me a ticket last week for no reason at all. He said I was going 55 in a 40 mile zone. . . etc. . . etc. . ."

Yesterday some half - loaded stranger sat down at our table and said "I'd like to ask you a question. How come the bulls never see the Cadillacs parked in the bus stops or near fire hydrants? They always nail some poor goof who is driving a '52 Chevlie."

It's a good thing my husband is a man of restraint or some of

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

GUEST PEEVED AT PET

I went to a party in a friend's home where she let her three cats roam freely around, and one of them scratched and tore my brand new nylon. The hostess merely laughed, though I was fuming inwardly. Shouldn't she have offered to replace the stockings?

Answers: Louise Davis

No, because she would be quite sure that you would refuse to accept her offer. But without asking, she should have purchased a paid and sent them to you with a brief note of apology. Before hostesses let their cats roam the house, they should first learn if their guests are afraid of them. Many people are violently allergic to them and to other animals.

INCONSIDERATE HOSTESS

My hostess, inviting me to a luncheon, gave me the names of three guests she wanted me to go and pick up. All were strangers to me and lived at some distance, so that I considered it an imposition. Was that small of me? Of course I had to drive them home later, too.

Louise Davis Answers:

I don't think it was small of you to think that your hostess was inconsiderate for she was indeed under the circumstances. If the three guests had been within easy reach, I'm sure you would have been happy to accommodate your hostess and the three guests. But to be asked to go far out of your way was an imposition.

these people would wind up with a healthy paste in the mouth.

This is not just our problem, Ann, but the problem of every man on the force. A word from you could do a lot of good. Please print this letter.—John Law's Wife

Dear Mrs. Law: Here's your letter and I hope it helps, but don't expect miracles. The public is inclined to forget that law enforcement officers are individuals. They tend to transfer gripes against one to another without rhyme or reason. More than in any other line of work, the first-rate police officer must carry the burden for his not so first-rate colleagues. Let's be grateful that the vast majority of officers are honest, hard-working citizens.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I met a very nice fellow in the home of a friend. He was in uniform and just about to be shipped overseas. We had four dates and hit it off well together. He asked if I'd write to him and I agreed. He made it plain he didn't want to get serious and I said neither did I. I am 19. He is 21.

For the first couple of months I heard from him every two weeks. Then the letters began to come more often. I tried to keep my letters casual even though his were becoming fairly mushy. Then he sent me a pair of green satin lounging pajamas with a note saying, "I'd love to see you in these."

His next letter said I was the kind of a girl he'd like to marry "in a few years."

I decided to send all his letters back and ask him not to write anymore.

Three weeks have passed and I am sorry I was so hasty. I want to hear from him again. What shall I do?—Regretting

Dear Regretting: Distance and separation sometimes intensify feelings. In my opinion you were much too tough on the fellow.

Now write and apologize for acting in haste. Say you'd like to resume the correspondence but you wish he'd skip the love and marriage talk at least until you become better acquainted.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him,

Marriage Promises Exchanged

Charles Herbert Kahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Kahn, Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton, exchanged marriage promises Sunday with Miss Ruth Ellen Hindin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Hindin, Milwaukee. The Rabbi Dudley Weinberg performed the ceremony at Temple Emanuel B'nai Jeshurun, Milwaukee.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Richard Hecht, Milwaukee. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard L. Kahn, Miss Jane Hindin, a sister of the bride, both of Milwaukee, and Miss Susan Baum, Cincinnati, Ohio, the bride's cousin.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Richard L. Kahn, Milwaukee. James Levin, Richard Hecht and Gerald Goldberg, all of Milwaukee, seated the guests. A reception was held at Chateau de la Lake. The bride attended the University of Wisconsin, Madison. The bridegroom was graduated from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., and Northwestern University Law School, Chicago.

After a western honeymoon, the couple will live at 173 E. Fairmont Ave., Milwaukee.

Couple Disagree on Place for Retirement

BY THOMAS COLLINS

Says the husband: "I want to retire to the south coast of Texas. right to deny her husband, after For the last seven years I have all his years of work, the right planned to retire there. After working for 45 years and supporting my wife for 40 I don't think I should get any back talk about it."

Collins

Says the wife: "I have about as much interest in moving to the south coast of Texas as I have in moving to Turkey. Why should I have to move anywhere? Because my husband is about to get a pension? Because he wants to? Those aren't reasons enough to break up a way of life that has served us well for over 20 years."

The husband: "This is the argument I've been getting for the last year. My wife has rights, and even she will tell you that in

Pay $15 Fines for Fishing Without License on Winnebago

CHILTON — A Seymour woman and a Green Bay man were fined Monday by County Judge D. H. Sehora for fishing without a license.

Fred Gerondale, 33, Green Bay, and Mrs. Norbert Runnec, 42, Seymour, each paid $15. They were arrested by Warden Keith Reichenbach on Lake Winnebago.

Dismissed on the motion of Dist. Atty. F. J. Schneider were boat registration charges against Joseph Schomisch, 26, Chilton, and Ray Mahnke, 33, Manitowoc. Both men had their boats legally registered but had inadvertently left their registration cards on shore.

him? It will cost us maybe $1,000 to execute the move, and even then I will have to give up many of our possessions.

Do you know why he wants to go? It's because he lived about 80 miles away from the south Texas coast when he was a boy. He went there once on vacation and flirted with girls. Through the years since he has been back to fish. It's nothing real to him. It's a mirage. It's romance. It's adventure."

The husband: "No matter what it is, it is what I want. And that's reason enough to go. Why should a husband struggle toward a pension and freedom unless he can do, finally, what he wants to do? A self-colored wife, $1,000 moving costs, some dishes and chairs—retirement would be a sorry promise if such things could deter a man from what he wants his final years of life to be."

The wife: "Self-centered? Who's self-centered?"

Salesmanship, Not Force

When a man and his wife disagree on where they will go and the husband is demanding what they will do in retirement, instead of selling, the wife is being the one who is doing the retiring obstinate, instead of understanding, and neither is applying any his side. But it is his duty to sell his wishes to his wife, to lure her into it instead of forcing house, furnished, go to the south her. It is the duty of the wife to try to understand. It is the duty of both to start getting together strange creatures they are—the husband would probably want to come back home and the wife prices.

In the argument given above, would want to stay.

Kennedy May Have Trouble With Labor

Administration Finds Resistance in Ideas On Ideal Work Week

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy is finding labor just as hard to convert to his new guide-lines for a booming economy as get the economy moving fast he found many leaders of big business and many top men in Congress.

A developing clash with labor could be one of the highlights of the struggle to get the economy moving faster—supposing the government can do it. And labor's view of the guidelines is sure to dominate much of next year's labor-management negotiations in many industries.

The labor-administration clash contracts already call for less than a 40-hour week at standard business is over the government's increasing role in collective bargaining and especially in monitoring price policies. The conflict in Congress in the economic field is over taxes and tariffs and the spending, among others—all tied to economic growth, jobs and labor.

Labor has told the President it is tired of waiting for a seemingly sidetracked boost to economic growth to find jobs for the four million or more persons out of work, many for long periods.

The union leaders' idea is that a 35-hour instead of a 40-hour week either would furnish more jobs to get the same amount of production or would counteract some of the inroads of automation on factory and office employment.

The administration says it will stand firm on the 40-hour week as the norm. The President thinks that in some lines more work, hard to convert to his new guide-lines rather than less, may be needed to get the economy moving fast enough to put all the nation's capacity in operation and all its labor force to work.

Same Pay

And a 35-hour week at the same the pressure for higher prices. This the administration opposes—sour view of the guidelines is sure to dominate much of next year's steel companies tried to raise their prices last April.

State to Spend $42 Million on Highway Work

Amount Largest Ever Apportioned In Single Year

MADISON (AP) — The State Highway Commission announced today it will spend $42 million in the present fiscal year to advance work on all portions of Wisconsin's interstate road system.

The amount is the largest ever apportioned to interstate highway construction in a single year, and the expenditure was made possible through the release of federal funds that until last week were frozen in the federal highway trust fund.

Wisconsin's share in the $9 billion released was $32 million. The federal funds added to $10 million already earmarked for interstate work brought a commission review of the state's entire interstate program.

Advance Work

The commission decided to advance work on all unfinished segments of Wisconsin's 452-mile interstate system. Portions of the money will be used between Wisconsin Dells and Eau Claire in the La Crosse area, in Milwaukee County, and between Milwaukee and Madison.

Expenditures totaling $8.5 million were scheduled on 190-94 from Rocky Arbor to Tomah in Juneau and Monroe counties. About $2.2 million will be used for construction in the Tomah area and for the purchase of right of way northward through Monroe, Jackson, Trempealeau and Eau Claire counties. Another $2.2 million is earmarked for the La Crosse area.

The total assigned to work on Interstate routes 194 and 1804 in Milwaukee County is $22 million. This includes reimbursement for funds advanced by the county for the right of way and construction.

$7 Million

More than $7 million is scheduled on the Madison to Milwaukee segment of 194, from just east of the Capitol City's Badger interchange to the Milwaukee county line, excluding segments completed or now under construction. This will allow the completion of all right of way purchases in Dane, Jefferson and Waushara counties.

Northeast Part Of State Low In Radiation

No Need to Worry About Milk Says Health Official

Post-Crescent News Service. GREEN BAY — There is no danger of harmful radiation effects from milk in northeastern Wisconsin at the present time, Dr. Carl Neupert, state health officer, said Wednesday.

Tests taken in the area have shown that the amount of radioactive fallout as the result of recent nuclear tests is between one third and one half of the level in western Wisconsin.

About 1,250 dairy farmers in St. Croix County serving milk to the Minnesota markets began today to dry feed their cattle as a precautionary measure after reports of high levels of the radioactive material in the area.

No Action

"There is absolutely nothing to indicate that any steps to dry feed cattle should be taken now or in the future," Dr. Neupert said.

"The greatest danger would be for mothers, especially those with infants and young children, to take the fresh milk from their diets which is needed so badly," the state health officer stated. Dr. Neupert said that the State Department of Health is constant ly checking the amount of fallout in the area and if the condition should come anywhere near the danger point, all of the residents would be notified immediately.

He said that testing stations have been set up throughout the area to insure the greatest possible safety.

Farmers in the western part of the state involved in the voluntary dry feed program will be assisted by the federal government after quick passage of Sen. Proxmire (D-Wis.) amendment to the farm bill which passed the senate Wednesday.

Corporation Buys $385,000 Worth Of Pulpwood

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — Pulpwood suppliers within 50 miles of paper mills operated by Consolidated Papers, Inc. received more than $385,000 during the last year under the firm's local purchase program.

Approximately 6,800 truckloads totaling nearly 25,000 cords were delivered to the mills under the nearby purchase program, according to E. B. Hurst, manager of timberlands. Consolidated started purchase of pulpwoods from central Wisconsin county woodlot owners in 1945 and stepped up the program in 1955 when mixed hardwoods were first used.

Good Coming From Tax Cut Debates

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Several significant bonuses for the United States have come out of this summer's extraordinary debate over a tax cut now to spur our sluggish economy — even though on the surface the result of the whole argument appears to be a flat "nothing now." Here are four of them:

The debate focused the nation's attention as never before on the extent to which the huge tax load being carried by businessmen and individual taxpayers is retarding our expansion — and this new public awareness that our tax rates are, as the President said, "so high as to weaken the very essence of the progress of a free society" marks progress indeed.

Not in memory has there been a debate on our tax system's defects so frank, so objective, so informed — and so widespread — as this summer. When this past January in his Economic Report, the President declared, "Later this year, I shall present to the Congress a major program of tax reform" which "will re-examine tax rates" and be aimed "at strengthening of incentives for individual effort and for productive investment," few people heard his promise (and probably fewer remember he made the promise that long ago).

But when in June he said, "Our tax structure . . . exerts too heavy a drain on a prospering economy" and pledged to offer the next Congress a program for "an across-the-board reduction in personal and corporate income tax rates," millions got the message. And when in his address to the nation August 14 rejecting an immediate tax cut but repeating he would offer a 1963 bill to "include an across-the-board, top-to-bottom cut in both corporate and personal income taxes," the entire nation and free world was listening. After decades of piling tax on tax and then cutting in a most haphazard way, we are at last on our way to basic reform.

Absentee Ballots To be Available Friday at Neenah

NEENAH — Absentee ballots for the Sept. 11 primary will be available beginning Friday in the city clerk's office at City Hall. Any registered Neenah voter who expects to be out of the city on the official election day may avail himself of the privilege.

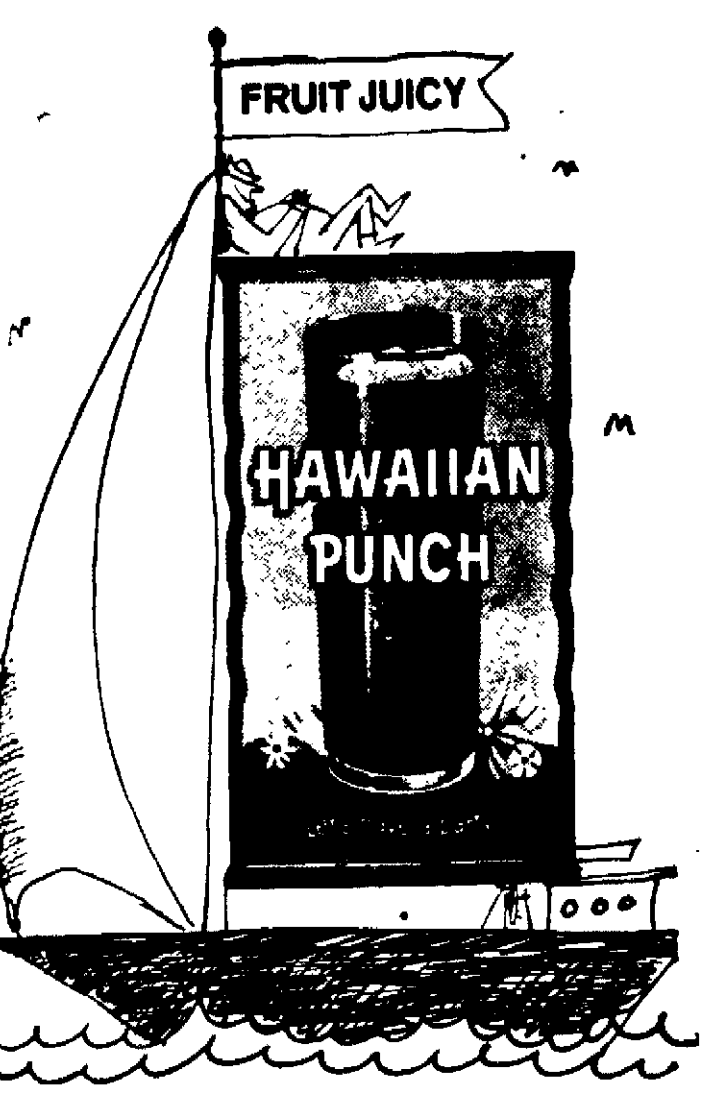

The ballots are expected to be picked up from the Winnebago County courthouse early tomorrow and should be available for use later in the day. Deadline for filling out the absentee forms is Monday, Sept. 10.

Twelve Neenah residents took advantage of special voting registration hours from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at City Hall. Regular voting registration hours will continue weekdays in the city clerk's office, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., until Aug. 29.

Appleton Machine to Open New Sales Office In Chicago August 15

The Doven division of Appleton Machine Company announce the opening of its Chicago sales office effective August 15. J. M. MacDonald, vice president of the parent company, stated that the new office will provide vastly improved service to the growing number of customers in the Chicago area. It is also felt that by being located in Chicago, it will prove to be a convenient location for members of the converting and graphic arts industries traveling between the East and West coast. E. N. Pickering has been appointed manager of the new office and will be assisted by Mr. H. Dohr, sales engineer.

Bank of Menasha Begins Remodeling Project Monday

$250,000 Job Will Provide Auto-Banking, Interior Expansion

MENASHA — The first major construction project in 23 years on Menasha's downtown square will begin Monday.

Bank of Menasha will begin its remodeling and addition project, which will cost in excess of $250,000, to provide auto-banking and expanded interior space.

The remodeling will completely change the present building, which has stood on the west end of the square since 1913. When completed, the building will be faced in charcoal ceramic tile with gold glass inserts. Window grilles will be in gold-colored anodized aluminum.

Sewer-Water Main Project Bids Opened

Neenah Council Will Award Contracts at Sept. 5 Session

McMahon Engineering Co., Menasha, is furnishing architectural and engineering services for the project. Charles Gambisky Co., Menasha, will be general contractor. It has secured a $127,000 building permit for the job. E. J. Rupp Plumbing and Heating Co., Menasha, will do the plumbing, heating and air-conditioning work. Langstadt's, Inc., Neenah, has the electrical work contract. The contracts for bank fixtures, including the exterior time and temperature for the building's southeast corner, have not been let.

To Remove 2nd Floor

Involved in the project will be removal of the second floor of the present building and construction of a 33 by 50-foot addition to the north, extending the building's frontage to Chute Street. The entire interior will be altered, re-equipped and re-lighted.

Since the sidewalk grade will be changed, there no longer will be steps to climb at the Main Street entrance, which will be in about the same location. Another entrance, as well as a walk-up window, will be in the addition on Chute Street.

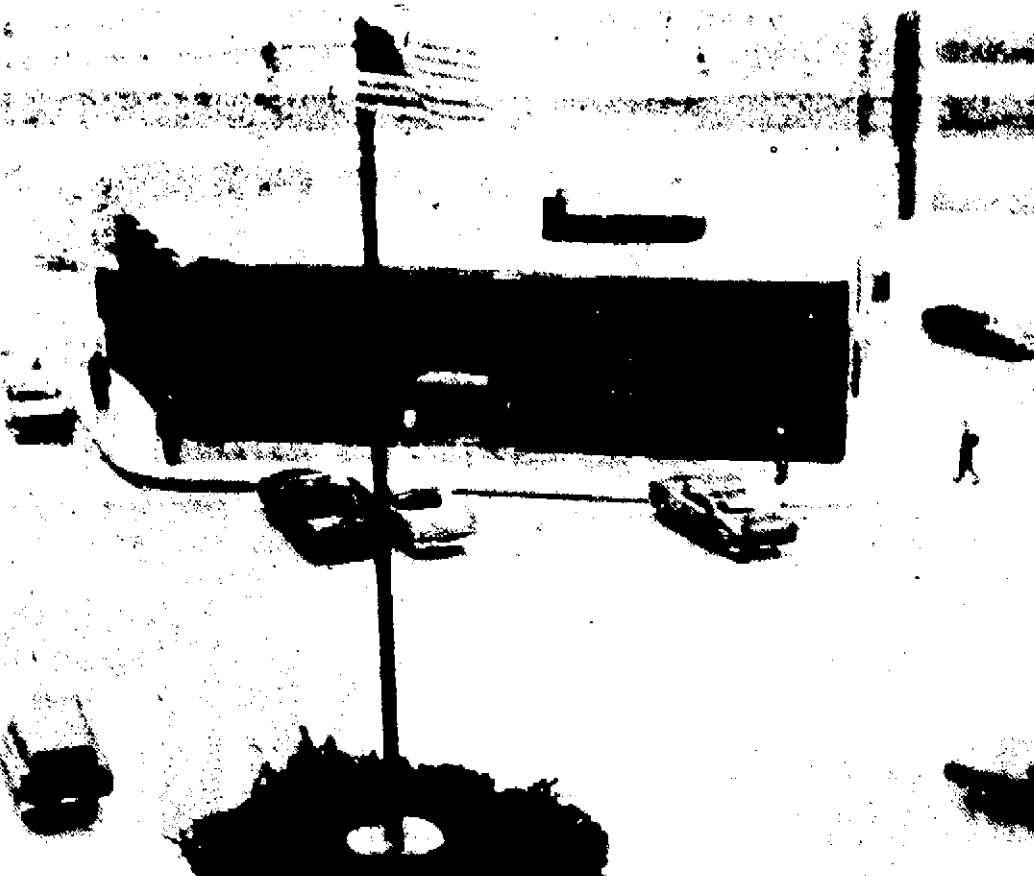

The auto-banking facility, lead off Main Street and exit to Chute Street, will be completely covered by a roof, with skylights. The main objective is to get auto-banking in without interfering with the traffic pattern of the building, says Carl Liebert, architect for McMahon Engineering. To facilitate entry, traffic will be routed in from the east.

The bank will incur extra expense in its auto-banking facility, since the teller will be housed in a kiosk separated from the main building. Bank officials preferred to have vehicles exit to Chute Street so as to keep Main Street traffic moving unhampered.

In November 1960, the bank purchased and blackened several other, erected in 1887, for more than $40,000.

The project, announced Jan. 12 of this year, will be the first new building project on the square since replacement of the Tuchschlager Building 23 years ago after a major fire.

Menasha's other bank, First National, recently announced its plans to construct a new banking house on the site of several old buildings on Main Street at the west end of the square. First National also plans an auto-banking facility.

Above is the Architect's model of the new Bank of Menasha facility, construction of which will get underway shortly. The tavern building acquired by the bank has been razed so that construction can proceed at once.

Shore Lane Anniversary Event Listed

NEENAH — Invitations were mailed out today by the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce on behalf of Shore Lane Shopping Area merchants, soliciting participation in the first anniversary celebration of the opening of South Commercial Street.

The event, to be held in Neenah's Shore Lane Shopping Area beginning at 6 p.m. Sept. 21, will include a parade and other special activities. The invitations have been sent to Neenah-Menasha clubs, organizations and Shore Lane merchants.

According to Jim Cummings, parade chairman, there is no specific theme set for the parade, although a "First Anniversary" idea can be applied. Any type of entry, however, will be accepted. It was also pointed out.

Participating in the parade will be marching groups, bands, vehicles, floats and other miscellaneous entries. Prizes will be awarded the outstanding entries.

Kindergarten Sessions Set For Neenah

NEENAH — School will begin Sept. 4 for all boys and girls in the Neenah Joint School District but kindergarten sessions will vary in those units dependent on bus transportation.

The first week of school there will be short kindergarten sessions at Spring Road, Clayton, Tullar and Lakeview Schools. Sessions are scheduled as follows:

- Spring Road and Lakeview, 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. and 12:45 to 2:45 p.m.
- Clayton and Tullar, 9 to 11 a.m. and 1:45 to 3:45 p.m.
- Lakeview, 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. and 12:45 to 2:45 p.m.

Oshkosh Man Dies Of Heart Attack While Driving Car

OSHKOSH — An Oshkosh man died of an apparent heart attack Wednesday afternoon while driving south on U.S. 41 at U.S. 45.

Milton Sitter, 44, 402 W. Eighth Ave., was pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital.

Sitter's car crossed U.S. 45 and went into a field before another motorist, Gary Pansier, 724 Lewis St., DePere, got into the car and turned the key off. Pansier was driving behind Sitter.

Artificial respiration was applied at the scene, but they were unable to revive Sitter.

Four Persons Escape Injuries in Mishaps

NEENAH — Four persons escaped without injury in two separate traffic mishaps here Wednesday, according to Neenah police.

One of the accidents occurred at 8:12 p.m. at the Neenah pool parking lot when an auto driven by Patricia B. Hyde, 317 Second St., Neenah, struck the rear of a vehicle operated by Donald Miller, 38 201 Fifth St., Neenah. Damage to both vehicles was negligible.

The other mishap occurred at 2:35 p.m. at the intersection of Hewitt and Sixth Streets when cars driven by Laverne Cleveland, 33 327 Eleventh St., Neenah, and Jane E. Block, 457 Ahnapp St., Menasha, skidded into one another. Damage was estimated in excess of $100 to both vehicles.

Rural Fire Run

LARSEN — The Clayton-Winchester Volunteer Fire department was called Wednesday to extinguish a fire in the automobile of Mrs. Florence Dobbs, route 1, Larsen.

Junior, Senior High Schools

9 Bus Routes Set For Neenah Pupils

NEENAH — Nine bus routes for and are more than two miles from transporting students to Neenah Junior and Senior High Schools will be in effect when school starts in the Neenah Joint School District Sept. 4.

Those students attending either junior or senior high school who live in the rural school districts of Clayton, Tullar, Lakeview, Gillingham and Spring Road will use these schedules. Junior and senior high school students living in the city of Neenah who live more than two miles from either of these schools are also included on the schedules.

Bus routes were established in accordance with the suggested policies of the area transportation committee which worked during district reorganization. This committee served under the chairmanship of Laverne A. Gilbertson and there was one board member from each of the attending school districts.

These policies are: 1. Senior high school students who live more than two miles from the Neenah Senior High School will be transported to school.

2. Junior high school students who live in the City of Neenah walk along a hazardous highway to reach school.

Pick-up Points

4. Students eligible for riding the bus will be expected to congregate at pick-up points which shall not be more than one-half mile from any child's home. This will hold true in all cases except where the bus cannot be taken within one-half mile of the child's home.

5. Due to very tight bus scheduling, buses can not be delayed for students to participate in any extra curricular activities after school hours. This means that parents living less than one mile from the junior high will be transported to school if they have to.

$115,000 Given For St. Paul Home

Committee Plans Second Phase Of Drive for Fireproof Wing

KAUKAUNA — The fund drive campaign. About 600 more individuals and others will be contacted for contributions in an effort to reach the $115,000 mark. About 230 letters have been sent to individuals, businesses, industries for to make possible start of construction in 1963.

A goal of $300,000 has been set, but this entire amount is not to be reached early this morning in the first appeal for funds. The average contribution of those who have given is $200, but this would be reached through contributions. Rebe far less without a few major receipts from legacies and various donations by individuals and industries.

Currently being planned is a second phase of the fund drive.

Crash Kills Neenah Pair

California Trip Ends in Disaster; Children Injured

A Neenah couple, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pitsch, 130 Douglas St., were killed early this morning in an automobile accident near Sacramento, Calif.

The couple's two children, Patricia, 8, and Peter, 10, were injured in the crash and are hospitalized at Woodland, Calif. Both should be released Saturday.

The family was on a vacation trip to California.

Kenneth, 33, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pitsch, 213 Smith St., Neenah. Mrs. Pitsch was the former June Shepherd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shepherd, route 2, Neenah.

The Kessler Funeral Home, Neenah, has charge of funeral arrangements.

The California Highway Patrol said Pitsch apparently dozed at the wheel and his southbound car drifted on the shoulder of the highway. As he pulled back onto the centerline and hit the side of the northbound truck and trailer, the crash broke a valve on the trailer filled with liquid gas and the truck driver was pinned in his cab for an hour while rescue workers cleared away the gas.

The driver, Carroll G. McCaslin, 45, of Fresno, Calif., received only minor injuries.

Pair Didn't Cross Lake To Get to Other Side

Just for "personal satisfaction" and to "prove we could do it," said Appleton policeman Richard de Berard, He and Richard Waldo, Omro, made a trip across Lake Michigan and back in a 14-foot fiberglass runabout Tuesday.

The venturesome amateur sailors left Sheboygan at 2:45 a. m. Tuesday and arrived in Manistee, Mich., 18 miles off course, at 8 a. m. (Their original destination was Ludington). The pair cruised to Ludington and stayed there until they began the return voyage at 1:30 p. m.

They ran into squalls and rough water in the afternoon, slowing their return considerably. Some while after they were due in Sheboygan, the Coast Guard began a search for them. The men were found near the shore about 300 feet from a breakwater. They arrived in Sheboygan at 8 p. m.

DeBerard said the excursion had been made with the full knowledge and assistance of the Coast Guard. One of the Coast Guard officers told him that the last time such a voyage had been tried, the boat sunk and the adventurers' bodies have never been found, said Berard.

He added that he and Waldo plan to make a voyage down the Mississippi next summer. He said they would start near St. Croix and continue downstream about 300 or 400 miles.

Congressional Action Nears on Fate Of Civil Defense Emergency Units

Outagamie Program Three Months Away; Penney Says New Facilities Not Needed

MADISON (AP)—Brown County's prospects of getting federal funds to help set up Civil Defense emergency units hinge on congressional action within the week.

If the money is supplied, Wis. Outagamie County will have a Civil Defense Emergency Communications Center in approximately three months. Lee Penney, Civil Defense director said today.

Penney said he was assured today by William K. Chipman, state Civil Defense director, that federal funds are available to Outagamie County for equipment, plans for its center.

Chipman said the regional civil defense office in Battle Creek, Mich., has highly recommended both projects.

The state chief said the two units could play major roles in state Civil Defense operations. The Green Bay facility would serve a nine-county northeastern area also tie in with Stevens Point, the state CD center in time of an emergency. Watertown's center would serve the populous southeastern section. Both Brown County and Watertown, Chipman said, have agreed to provide improved facilities for state Civil Defense area officials.

Chipman said there are 40 or 50 similar projects in the planning stage throughout the country and the Wisconsin projects "are among the top five or 10 ready to go."

Milwaukee is the only city in the state with a center of the type planned in Green Bay and Watertown.

The centers are designed to provide adequate quarters for paid and volunteer Civil Defense workers and to house supplies in case of an emergency.

Urging Backing

Chipman and Brown County and Watertown officials have urged Wisconsin congressmen to back the proposal and Chipman said the outlook has been encouraging.

Brown County seeks $6,000 to match the sum it is willing to provide for designing the facility and Watertown asks $10,000 for plans for its center.

Chipman said the regional civil defense office in Battle Creek, Mich., has highly recommended both projects.

Clergy Attend Bishop Bona Asks Blessings At Anniversary Festivities

GREEN RAY — "I beg Almighty God to bless us all," Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona said simply Wednesday afternoon at the conclusion of day-long festivities marking his 50th year as a Catholic priest and his 30th year as a Catholic bishop.

The spiritual leader of the 16-county Green Bay diocese and almost 300,000 Catholics responded briefly to the tributes from fellow bishops, his priests and his people after a dinner at the Hotel Northland.

Attending the dinner were four archbishops, 20 bishops and over 400 monsignori and priests including 20 from Chicago. Bishop Bona's home town.

Other guests at the dinner were the bishop's relatives and their families from Chicago, including several young nephews and nieces.

Lay guests included Mayor Roman Denissen, State Sen. Leo P. O'Brien, Packer Corp. President Dominic Olejczak and

Police Help Stop Suicide Attempt

MENASHA — Police this morning helped thwart a suicide attempt by a 19-year-old divorced woman, mother of two children.

At 1:04 a. m., police were in her apartment and called for Brown ambulance, which took her to Theda Clark Memorial hospital. She was released this morning after treatment for an overdose of drugs.

The woman left a suicide message to the girl who shares the apartment. "I'm sorry but I'm no good to no one. I'm killing myself. Thank you for everything."

The roommate called police.

Her two children are in custody of the father.

Bishop Undergoes Surgery on Friday

GREEN RAY — Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona was admitted to St. Vincent Hospital this afternoon. He is scheduled to have surgery Friday. The nature of his illness has not been determined.

Although he did not mention a specific reason at his jubilee mass at the Cathedral Wednesday, Bishop Bona asked those attending to pray for him during the next several days. His remarks at the conclusion of the ceremonies aroused rumors, now confirmed, that he was to enter the hospital.

1945 contrasted the Solemn Pontifical Jubilee Mass celebrated Wednesday morning in St. Francis Xavier Cathedral with his first mass in Rome 50 years ago.

His first mass as a newly-ordained priest was said over the altar-tomb of St. Stanislaus Kostka, his patron saint. Bishop Bona recalled. In contrast to the Cathedral filled with clergy, nuns and laity Wednesday, the bishop said his first mass on Nov. 2, 1912, with only three persons present, two fellow-priests and the janitor of the church.

The bishop thanked his clergy and laity for the jubilee gift of a new Cadillac automobile and a set of vestments decorated with his bishop's coat of arms. He has turned his older car, a Chrysler, over to the sisters who prepare

Crisscrossed With Roads Police Think Oat Field Used for Beer Parties

Outagamie County police have discovered an oat field within sight of Appleton's city limits which may be a site of late-hour beer parties.

The field, located south of Spencer Street and east of Bluemound Road, is crisscrossed with a series of new roads which police believe lead to several "meeting" places.

County patrolman Stanley Arnold discovered the site Saturday night when he saw a car parked in the field. Arnold found one couple, a 20-year-old boy and a 19-year-old girl, parked there. After he sent the couple from the field, Arnold explored further and found other roads into other parts of the field.

Flattened Growth

Cars and occupants have flattened the weed and thistle growth in the field in several spots. Some cars have parked close to, but have not entered a field of buckwheat.

At least two empty cases of beer and dozens of six pack cases are scattered throughout the field, and strewn along the roadways. Many bottles and cans clutter the lawns and roads of a residential section bordering the field. The mile square field is ringed by newly constructed homes and homes under construction.

Sheriff Robert Heinritz, after exploring the area today, said his department has received no complaints of damages or parties near the field. Heinritz said the area undoubtedly is used for beer parties, but he said there has been no apparent damage to the crops or property. Heinritz said he did not know whose farm the field is located on.

Not 'Lost' Field

The field discovered last week-end is not thought to be the "lost" field used last spring by several high school groups who openly bragged of holding their beer parties "somewhere near the city limits."

Heinritz said that spot was uncovered this summer and is located near the Outagamie County speedway. Heinritz said the site, located near a sand quarry, has been fenced and locked by the owner and that no beer parties have been held there recently.

Keep Alert to Red Peril, Official Says

Pig Fair Has Four Choices For New Site

No One Sure if Farmers Will Keep Coming as They Have

The farmers who come to Appleton's Pig Fair definitely have four choice commercial locations to sell their wares, but no one really knows if they will continue to come to the city as they have for many years.

Valley Fair Shopping Center to day offered to let the farmers sell on its parking lot.

Aid Association for Lutherans, Northgate Shopping Center and Freedom also offered the farmers the use of its parking lot at Washington and Superior Streets.

But the farmers just come to the Pig Fair of their own volition. There's no organization of any kind. And there's no spokesman. Will they come Saturday, the last Saturday of the month and the traditional day for the fair?

Maybe they will break that tradition. Another of their traditions has already been broken. Traditionally the fair was held on the city's parking lot at Washington and Division streets. Now a parking ramp is being built there.

On Aug. 9, the public safety committee of the council officially said the farmers must move from that spot.

After that, the Chamber of Commerce met with city officials to discuss the Pig Fair's plight and the city and the chamber went about trying to find a new location. The AAL offer came at the mayor's request.

The other offers came when the farmers' plight was given publicity.

But will the farmers come? Will they sell at a new location? Once again, no one knows.

Problems of Developing Nations Heightened for U. S. by Communist Pressure

BY MARY WALTER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The United States, in its foreign policy, must steer a course between closing its ears and eyes to the dangers of Communist aggression and being mesmerized and paralyzed by the dangers. Helmut Sonnenfeldt, chief, Block International Political Activities Division, Office of Research and Analysis for the Sino-Soviet Bloc, Department of State told members of a seminar meeting at Lawrence college Wednesday. The problems of the emerging newly developing nations and the resurgence of Western Europe are heightened for the United States by the Communist pressure.

Sonnenfeldt said. The impact of an ideology which claims to have all the answers obviously is strong among new nations. Sonnenfeldt said, but the United States experience in government should be stressed. We sometimes may be too meek and diffident about stressing this, he said, with its emphasis upon standards of operating by consent rather than and our heritage of men governing men.

Our 'Win' Policy

In countering the Communist belief in the inevitable success of its way of life we must relate our belief in a pluralistic, but interdependent world which in the long run, as Sec. of State Dean Rusk has stated, is a "win" policy.

In Sonnenfeldt's opinion, the belief of Communist leaders in their Communist ideology is undiminished, alive, active and dynamic. This belief causes Communists to sacrifice, devote their energy and give to Communism an element of mysticism that the speaker felt was no less and perhaps more than it ever was. The Communist view of the world as an arena of conflict between a "new" system and the old systems affects the degree to which accommodation can be reached between East and West.

Acceptance Outside

Sonnenfeldt cited the physical power of the Soviet Union and the streamlining of the Communist state since the death of Stalin as contributions toward its acceptance outside of Russia. In many Communist countries there have been moves toward consent rather coercion and incentive rather than terror which serves to sell Communism, but in no way changes its basic ideology.

It is to the interest of the Western free nations to encourage all tendencies in Russia which will make it easier for us to live side by side he said. A relaxed Soviet Union may be less a danger to free nations than a highly regimented and suspicious regime, he suggested.

More Pluralism

It also is to our advantage to see developed in the Communist world a greater degree of pluralism and less control from Moscow. Obviously our aid, at least to Poland, is aimed in this direction. We also must continue to search for and develop overlapping areas of interest with the Soviet Union. The withdrawal of troops from Austria was such an area, Sonnenfeldt said, and Laos may be another.

Some of the problems confronting the United States since the end of World War II that have been increased by the presence of Communism are the tremendous growth in economic power and influence of Western Europe which is largely to our advantage and which has been stimulated by the U. S.; the end of colonialism and the development of new nations with their drives toward nationalism and modernization, and the destructiveness, range and speed of modern weapons.

Sonnenfeldt also emphasized that the whole burden of our future policy should not rest upon U. S. foreign policy but equally upon what we do in this country to meet human needs, both economic and spiritual.

Menasha Firm To Install New Paper Machine

New Manufacturing Facility to be in Operation by Spring

Wisconsin Tissue Mills, Menasha, soon will begin installation of a second paper machine.

Increased sales and a long-range expansion program of the company's converter operations motivated installation of the new machine, company officials said. They said the new machine will allow the company to expand its product lines.

The new machine will be housed in a rebuilt and enlarged area next to the present machine. It should be completely installed by the spring of 1963.

Wisconsin Tissue Mills manufactures and converts, primarily in the napkin field. Other products in the present line include paper roll table covers, paper tray covers, place mats, coasters and doilies.

Rev. Gardner Named Pastor of Alliance Church

Rev. Clark Gardner will take up his pastoral duties with the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church of 303 N. Durkee St., Appleton, on Sunday, Aug. 26, 1962.

Rev. Gardner has a wife and three young boys who are expected to arrive with him in Appleton this week. The Gardners are 35 years old and came from Nebraska. They have served as missionaries in Thailand for the past 10 years and just arrived in the States in May, 1962. Mrs. Gardner, during her college career, majored in music, especially in organ and piano and thus will be a great assistance to her husband and the local Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

Rev. Gardner will succeed Rev. Roy Stenlund and family who served the local Christian and Missionary Alliance Church for the last and hit the tree in the 700 block 10 1/2 years. He and his family are tie was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital for examination.

Woman Loses Purse While Eating in Park

Mrs. Lambert Van Hout, route 4, Appleton, reported to police Tuesday her purse, containing $1 was taken while she was eating lunch in Telulah Park.

Mrs. Van Hout said she left her purse on a bench for about five minutes at 5:30 p. m. and when she returned, it was gone. The purse was white with gold trim.

Car Windows Broken, Woman Tells Police

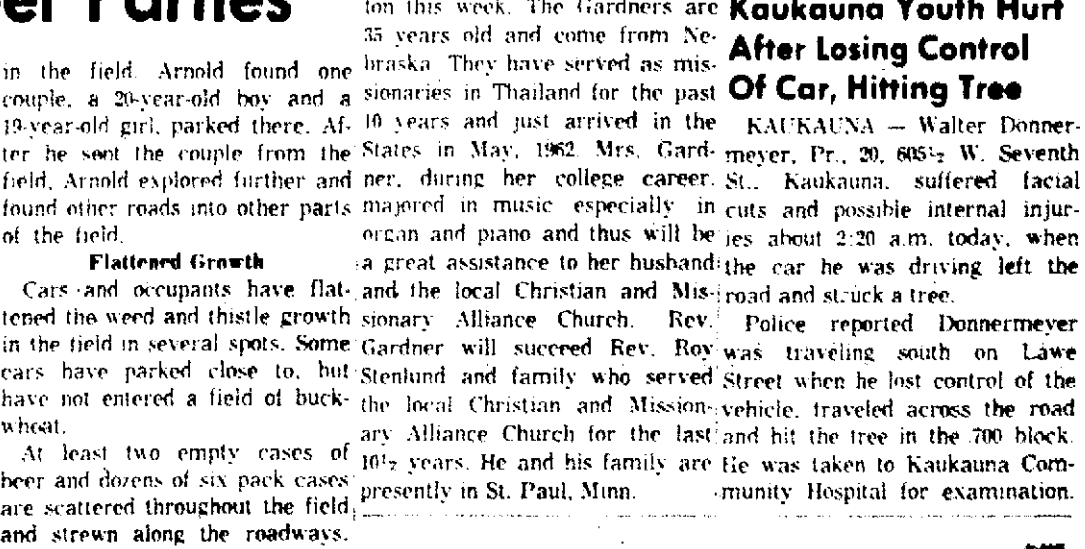

Windows of a 1952 automobile were broken while it was parked in the backyard of the Mrs. Lyle McGlin home, 2202 N. Meade St. Tuesday.

Police said the windows on both doors may have been damaged by a fist smashing against them.

Kaukauna Youth Hurt After Losing Control Of Car, Hitting Tree

KAUKAUNA — Walter Donnermeyer, Jr., 20, 605 1/2 W. Seventh St., Kaukauna, suffered facial cuts and possible internal injuries about 2:20 a. m. today, when the car he was driving left the road and struck a tree.

Police reported Donnermeyer was traveling south on Lake Street when he lost control of the vehicle, traveled across the road and hit the tree in the 700 block 10 1/2 years. He and his family are tie was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital for examination.

State May be Used in U. S. Health Project

Would Receive Cards With Instructions on Artificial Respiration

BY FRANCES McCLUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — The U. S. Surgeon General's office would like to conduct an educational project on artificial respiration in cooperation with the Wisconsin Department of Health and Conservation, Rep. Melvin R. Laird R., Marshfield, revealed today.

In a letter to the congressman, Assistant Surgeon General A. L. Chapman proposed that 250,000 cards giving instructions on artificial respiration, printed by the government, could be distributed by the state conservation department to boat owners in their registration envelopes.

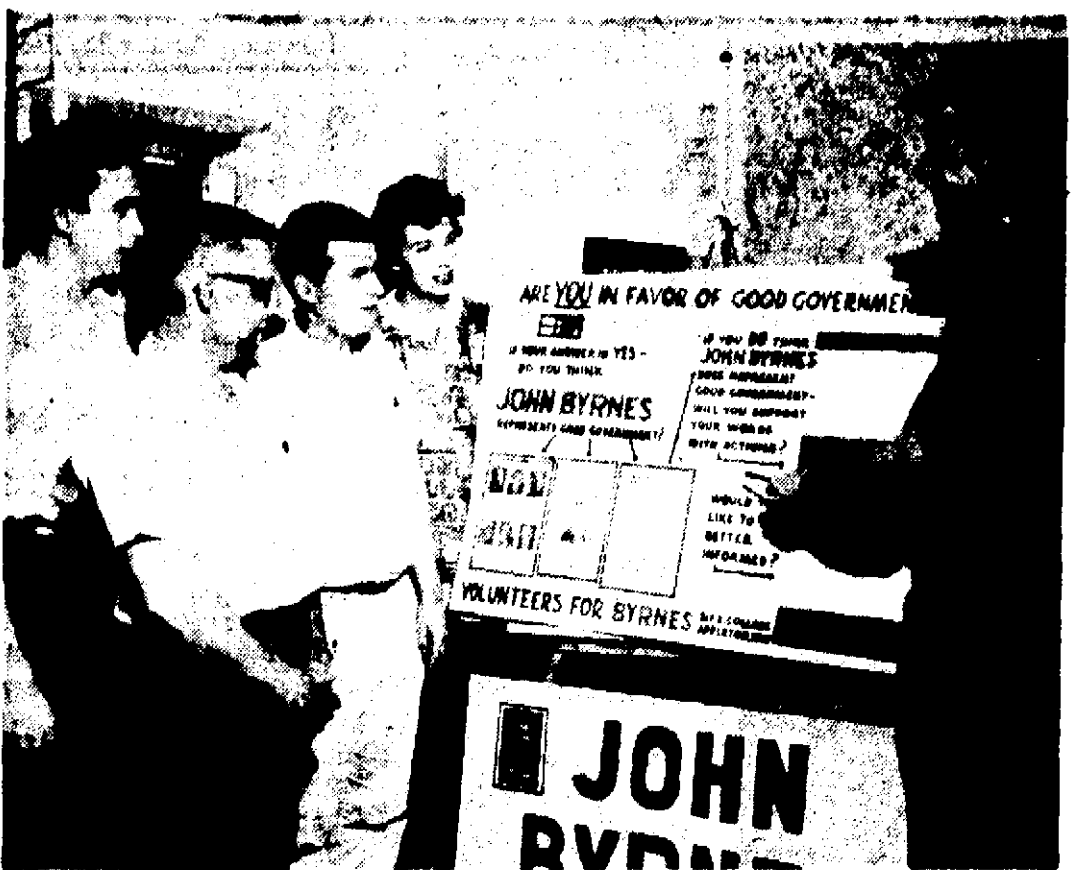

Actual Results
"Working with our research and statistical experts, the state health department could then investigate actual results over a reasonable period of time to discern whether there had been a visible decrease in drowning deaths traceable to the instruction derived from the card," Dr. Chapman suggested.

He believes that the "Wisconsin boating public seems to be an ideal group" to test the effectiveness of the card in a group in which drowning and other emergency situations involving respiratory failure is a leading cause of deaths.

State Conservation Director L. P. Voigt, who had received one of the surgeon general's cards, already expressed his conviction to Laird that distribution of the card to the Wisconsin boating public "could contribute greatly to eliminating drowning deaths."

Easily Carried
The thin, plastic instructions card used by the public health service is about two and a half by four inches in size, easily carried in wallet or card case. Printed in red, it has pictures on one side showing how mouth-to-mouth rescue breathing is accomplished.

On the other side, it carries these instructions: (1) Place cushion on back immediately. Don't waste time moving to a better place, loosening clothing or draining water from lungs. (2) Quickly clear mouth and throat. Remove mucus, food and other obstructions. (3) Tilt head back as far as possible. The head should be in a "chin up" or "sniff" position and the neck stretched. (4) Lift lower jaw forward. Grasp jaw by placing thumb into corner of mouth. Do not hold or depress tongue. (5) Pinch nose short (or seal mouth) to prevent air leakage. (6) Open your mouth wide and blow. Take a deep breath and blow forcefully (except for babies) into mouth or nose until you see the chest rise. (7) Listen for exhalation. Quickly remove your mouth and nose with your mouth, blow when chest rises. Lift jaw higher with small puffs of air from your if victim makes snoring or gur-

Personal Contacts
The bishop, who is the fifth ranking member of the Episcopacy in the United States in years of service as a bishop, recalled personal contacts with five popes dating back to St. Pius X who reigned until 1914. He especially thanked Pope John XXIII who sent a special jubilee benediction message.

Before invoking a jubilee blessing, Bishop Bona repeated the Latin words on his coat of arms, "Nominis Tu sit gloria." "May glory be to Thy name."

Bishop Grellinger Speaks
The only other speaker at the dinner was Bishop John B. Grellinger, Oshkosh, Auxiliary Bishop of the Green Bay Diocese.

Bishop Grellinger said that the honored prelate's most obvious trait is "his deep paternal charity." He related that Bishop Bona has guided and ruled "not by pronouncement, but by friendly con-act with his priests and his people."

Bishop Grellinger pointed out that the Green Bay Diocese is "a very Catholic diocese with more than one-half of the children in 10 out of 16 counties baptized in the faith."

Bishop Grellinger cited the problem of providing religious training for the many young people in the diocese. He pointed to the establishment of Sacred Heart Seminary, college growth, six new high schools and 41 new elementary schools to show the scope of the educational effort.

In addition, Bishop Grellinger said, such informal educational efforts as a weekly diocesan newspaper, and rural life and retreat movements have grown.

"May we be blessed with his spiritual leadership for many years to come," Bishop Grellinger concluded.

The invocation at the dinner was pronounced by Archbishop William E. Cousins of Milwaukee.

Vacations Cost More Than Ever

Residents of Four County Area Pay Share, Too

Vacation expenditures for residents of the Outagamie, Calumet, Winnebago and Waupaca counties area traveling by automobile are running higher this year than they did last year.

The reason for it? An increase in the cost of overnight accommodations, an increase in tolls and a hike in gasoline and other taxes in some areas.

The sad news comes from the Commerce Clearing House and from the Automobile Club of New York.

The finding is that the average couple, driving 300 miles a day, must figure on a daily budget of $31 for necessary spending. That is $2 more than was needed last summer.

It breaks down to $10.50 for meals and snacks, $11 for overnight lodgings, $7 for car operation and $2.50 for tolls and miscellaneous needs.

Also being encountered in many states are higher taxes on gasoline, cigarettes and on purchases in general, which are subject to state liquor tax collected during the first six months of 1962.

A "vacation tax map," issued by the Commerce Clearing House, shows gas taxes ranging from five cents a gallon to eight cents.

Cigarette taxes, collected in all but three states, begin at two cents a pack and reach a high of eight cents.

As for sales taxes, they go from a low of two percent to a top of four percent.

These are state taxes. In addition, there are the usual Federal taxes and, sometimes, overlapping local levies.

In the State of Wisconsin, vacationers are paying six cents on gasoline, three per cent in sales taxes and six cents on cigarettes. Of much more importance to the area car owner than these trip expenditures, is the bigger question of how much it is costing him per year to own and operate his car.

According to the American Automobile Association, the cost was a little higher in the past year than in 1960.

For the driver of a standard-size car in the moderate price group, where usage was at the average rate of 10,000 miles a year, it amounted to nearly $1,204.

The biggest item was depreciation, followed by insurance, fuel, maintenance and license fees.

The total in Outagamie County, for the 33,950 passenger cars un-der registration last January, came to $40,876,000. Calumet County's 7,410 cars came to $8,922. Winnebago County's 37,130 cars cost $44,705 and Waupaca County's 13,020 cost $15,676.

Appleton Gets $34,497 From State Liquor Tax
Appleton received a check for $34,497 today as its share of the state liquor tax collected during the first six months of 1962.

City Treasurer Ray L. Feuerstein said the state tax is shared with communities on a per capita basis, which this year is 71.25 cents a person.

Thursday, August 23, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent B2

Appleton Has Collected 97.65 Of Tax Roll
$6,228,679.20 Taken In According to City's Treasurer Feuerstein

In Outagamie County, $5,912. per cent of the $6,228,679.20 on its 1962 tax rolls, City Treasurer Ray L. Feuerstein reported today.

Tax collections for both the Outagamie and Calumet county portions of the city total $6,082,509.78. Deadline for paying taxes in the city was July 31.

In Outagamie County, $5,912.408.75 in taxes were collected out of a $6,027,130.16 total. Figures for Calumet County show a tax roll of $201,549.04 and $170,101.03 in collections.

Breakdown
A breakdown of the figures from Feuerstein for the Outagamie County portion of the city show these collections: $4,896,176.03 in real estate, $684,284.31 in personal property, $331,867.34 in special assessments, and $8,106 in occupational taxes.

Delinquent taxes returned to Outagamie County include $90,890 in real estate, $19,234 in special assessments and $542.10 in miscellaneous special assessments.

Altogether, Feuerstein, in behalf of the city, has returned $928,762.89 in county and state special taxes to the Outagamie County treasurer.

Taxes collected in the Calumet County part of the city include $137,629.70 in real estate, $2,886.44 in personal property, and $39,584.00 in special assessments.

Calumet County has been paid $25,148.92 in county and state special taxes by the city.

Percentages of collections of the total tax roll is $6.1 for Outagamie County and $4.39 for Calumet County.

Landfill Plan Of Sheboygan Mayor Crushed

Sheboygan Mayor Emil C. A. Muuss suffered a stunning defeat Monday night on his proposal for a comprehensive survey of sanitary landfill versus incineration methods of city garbage and rubbish disposal.

The Sheboygan city council voted, instead, to hire an engineering firm "to make an engineering study on refuse and garbage disposal by incineration for the city of Sheboygan."

Remarks made by Appleton Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell to a group of Sheboygan aldermen on Bratwurst Day three weeks ago may have been the motivation for some aldermen who switched their support from sanitary landfill plans to incineration.

According to a Sheboygan Press reporter, Ald. Bernard Kistner said at a committee of the whole meeting last week, "Mayor Mitchell told me and some other aldermen that Appleton is going to incineration, and that they're going to abandon their landfill operation."

Jingo Notes Late Show Glimpse of Actor Paar

Jack in 'Walk Softly, Stranger,' Movie Starring Joseph Cotton

BY JINGO
Jack Paar was on television Tuesday night. If his old gabfest fans were strictly a personal following, they might have passed up his Groucho Marx current substitute and tuned in Channel 11's Evening Show and "Walk Softly, Stranger."

Jingo has never been very enthusiastic about Paar's thespianic talents except when he turned on his waterworks which he did without equal. "Walk Softly, Stranger" starred Joseph Cotton, but Jack was there. It was one of the few segments of footage that remained off the cutting room floor, so it has considerable historic value.

However, the film editor did Jack no favors. Perhaps it was the laughter of derision from the pros on the set that moved Jack to believe he was the case, and his performance lends credence to the theory, the film had a great deal to do with the Tonight show's recent success.

Bucking Paar's tailor-made show, the late shows are good places for him to hide any other non-perishable appearances before the camera. However, next month he'll be out in the open and if he tries to do anything more difficult than he did on his famed gabfest, even his most devout followers will rub their eyes and shake their heads. Then what will Jack do?

A stage producer must watch the smallest details because there is no way of telling what will attract his audience's eyes. Jingo has known of scenes of the tenderest import turned into hilarious routs because of the smallest costume mischance or odd piece of property.

Don Jones knows of this danger and his productions this summer were as fit as Napoleon III's army, "ready to the last button and garter."

"Wonderful Town" came up to all expectations on this score as on all others. Elaine's shoes sparkled with bits of sequins and Harry Millstein as Speedy Valenti, the coolest cat in captivity, also was lent additional sparkle by a most adroit suit coat adorned with a sequin collar. When Millstein is on the stage the dress isn't necessarily needed to make the man, but it helps.

Sleep Puts Knowledge To Work

BY TV SCOUT

8:30 (Channel 11)—My Three Sons repeats an absolutely delightful and very funny show tonight, even though it veers away from reality more than ever. Son Mike (Tim Considine) has a learn-while-you-sleep gadget set up in his room while he's away for the weekend. And, on successive nights, Fred MacMurray and William Frawley sleep in Mike's bed—and become Spanish-speaking.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5)—If there's a decided green tinge to your set tonight, it's because two programs are repeating their St. Patrick's Day show. The first is Dr. Kildare which builds the show around a Brendan Behan-type Irishman. Dan O'Herlihy plays a hard-drinking philosopher who refuses to accept the necessary medical treatment for his alcohol-induced cirrhosis.

8:30-9 (Channel 11)—The Law and Mr. Jones has something of the flavor of The Defenders tonight with James Whitmore battling to save the life of his client (George Brenlin) and DA Tom Bosley working just as hard to see that justice is done in this repeat. The problem is Brenlin's ulcer, which could bring death if it isn't operated on, but he refuses to let the surgeons come near him.

8:30-9 (Channel 2)—"Man in the Middle" on Zane Grey Theatre is a repeat from Feb., 1960. Michael Rennie stars as an Indian agent with a week to go on his much hated job. Then the son of his best friend shoots an Indian, and he finds himself trying to see that justice is done, even though the boy, his father and half the population of the town can't see anything wrong with ridding the world of an Indian.

9:30 (Channel 2)—Money Talks is concerned with government and business in the fourth show in the five-part series. Cabot is a remarkable film—not merely in its spectacle, but in the human relationships, too.

2 Love Stories
"It was a tremendous task to put together two complete love stories. Mr. Shaw wrote a play about one of them—'Caesar and Cleopatra,' and Mr. Shakespeare wrote a play about the other one—'Antony and Cleopatra.' I had to combine both in one film."

10:20-12 (Channel 4-5) Tonight's guests are Salvatore Baccaloni, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Joe Twerp and Chester the Clump. (Color)

Green Ram Ends Season With Farce

BARABOO — "See How They Run," a farce that moves at foot-race pace, winds up the sixth season of Green Ram Theatre. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for the play opening Friday and running through Tuesday.

Set in an English vicarage, the play begins when a Miss Skillon, earnest member of the flock of the Rev. Lionel Toop, comes to the vicarage to complain about the vicar's wife. She remains, to be hit by a poker-brandishing intruder and to have her first bout with alcohol in the form of cooking sherry. Arlyn Zeller, Keno sha, enacts the role of Miss Skillon.

Completing his sixth season with the Ram is veteran performer M. Roberts McElyea, Madison, who plays the vicar. Penelope Toop, an unlikely sort of person for a vicar's wife, is done by Nanci Kocher, Wauwatosa. Another six-year veteran of the company, Don Burdick, Madison, plays an American actor who contributes to the confusion.

Before the play is over, the performers are literally off and running—in and out the four doors of the vicarage. In the procession are a Cockney maid (Cam Kornman, New Orleans, La., the intruder, dressed as a clergyman (San Syse, Madison), a bishop (Wil Denson, Randolph), and a legitimate clergyman (John Figgmiller, Eau Claire). Steve Brundage, Baraboo, is a sergeant in search of the intruder.

Gloria Lank, Oshkosh, resident director of the company, directs the Philip King play.

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

UNDEPENDABLE PEOPLE ARE USUALLY WEAK!
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

False. Often they are uncertain about themselves. The man who lacks standards in which he has confidence, tends to depend upon the standards of others. Since people differ, he is always changing, depending upon the kind of group he is with. Since he never knows what he is going to do, you never know what to expect of him. For a closer look at this problem, send for the pamphlet, "Getting Along With People." A copy's yours for 10 cents and a stamped, return envelope sent to this column, in care of this newspaper.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "I have an idea that they have left the city." It is better to say, "I think that they have left the city."

Often Mispronounced: Baroque (bar-oke). Pronounce bah - roke, accent on second syllable.

Often Misspelled: Portable (capable of being carried). Potable (drinkable).

Synonyms: Compel, force, oblige, drive, constrain, necessitate, make, coerce, bind.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Didactically: in an instructive way; in the manner of a teacher. (Pronounce die-dack-tick-ah-lee, principal accent on second syllable). "His superior officer was offended because the man pointed out the obvious too didactically."

Writer Dies of Cancer

LISBON (AP)--Gustavo de Matos Sequeira, 81, a leading Portuguese historian, writer and playwright, died of cancer Tuesday.

A staunch republican and liberal, he had been dismissed as sub-director of the Lisbon customs in the early days of Premier Salazar's regime. He became a leading oppositionist among intellectuals and writers.

Artificial Morning Glories
Can Crawl Your Curtains

BY CAPPY DICK

Here's how to make a vine of paper morning glories to pin on a curtain so the flowers seem to be growing to the top of the window.

You will need a few soda straws, a couple of yards of picture wire and some crepe paper of various colors -- preferably blue, pink, purple and green.

Let's start with a purple morning glory with pink points inside. Fold in half a piece of purple crepe paper five inches square with the grain of the paper at right angles to the fold as in Figure 1. From pink crepe paper cut five triangular pieces, each two inches long. Paste them on one side of the purple paper with the points toward the fold (Figure 2).

Paste the two ends of the purple paper together to form a tube as in Figure 3, with the pink triangles inside. When the paste has dried, hold the seam so it will not come apart and with your fingers gently stretch the paper at the folded edge until it is two or three times as big around as the bottom of the tube. With a table knife, curl the flared edges outward by pulling the paper between the edge of the blade and your thumb.

Use a three-inch piece of soda straw for a stem. Cut slits an inch long in one end. Press them outward slightly. Place the straw in the flower as in Figure 4, gathering the purple paper together at the bottom and binding it and the protruding soda straw with a couple of turns of the long picture wire. Wrap a narrow strip of green crepe paper around the base of the flower and the straw and around the wire a distance of three or four inches. Then fasten on another morning glory of another color. Continue until the wire is full of flowers.

Morning glories can be made in many colors, not just in purple and pink.

Add some heart-shaped leaves, these are not exact morning glory leaves, of green crepe paper folded in the center as in Figure 5 to make a mid-rib. To make curling tendrils, twist a short piece of green-wrapped wire around a thin knitting needle and attach it to the vine. Bend the complete vine so it seems to be growing in a crooked path and pin it to the window curtain.

Nation's Hoboes Name
Royalty at Convention

BRITT, Iowa (AP)--Scoop shovel Scotty, 89, and Michigan Sue, 20, reign today as king and queen of the nation's hoboes.

They were elected Tuesday at the 62nd annual Hobo Day and national convention in this north Iowa town of 1,900.

The new king's real name is Tom McDougal of Lisbon, Iowa, Michigan Sue, of Garden City, Mich., wouldn't tell her real name.

Some 15,000 visitors to the affair consumed 1,500 gallons of mulligan stew and saw a 62-unit parade.

Reynolds Asks Debate, but Not With Audience

Democrat Candidate 'Eager' to Engage In TV Studio Series

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Democratic candidate for governor, pulled out of the only major television debate scheduled with the GOP nominee thus far still is issuing challenges today. But John W. Reynolds made it plain he'd meet his Republican opponent only on Reynolds' terms.

Reynolds said he is "ready and eager" to engage in debate, but there will have to be a series of them in "the pattern established by the Kennedy-Nixon debates of 1960." And they will have to be held in a studio, without a live audience.

The statement followed by a few hours an announcement that Reynolds would not participate in the Forum debate scheduled for Sept. 27 as had been announced earlier by the forum. The withdrawal announcement was made by State Democratic Chairman Patrick Lucey who said the "carnival atmosphere" of the Public Affairs Forum would not be acceptable.

The Republican gubernatorial nominee, Philip Kuehn, who has the GOP endorsement and Wibur Runk were quick to take up Lucey's announcement.

A spokesman for Runk said "we're sorry to see the rug pulled out from under Reynolds by Lucey."

Kuehn said he was "wondering who is running the Democratic party now." Mr. Reynolds had accepted the Forum's invitation.

Black Angus Heifer Killed by Head-on Impact of Car Crash

MARION — A young Black Angus heifer was killed when struck by a car at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday on Highway 110 south of Marion.

The car driven by Harold Patz, route 2, Clintonville, was traveling south when the heifer owned by Leland Schoenck, route 1, Marion, jumped out of the ditch onto the road ahead of the car. The animal was hit head-on and killed by the impact.

No one was injured in the car-passenger's were Mrs. Patz and two small children.

The accident was investigated by Sgt. Lyle McCully of the Waukegan county traffic patrol, who estimated damages at $150 to the car.

HIGH SCHOOL DROP-OUT PROMISED JOB BY CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL SALESMAN

BY CYRUS BARRETT JR.
DEAR CY:
 Forty dollars a week is what I make having dropped out of high school. The future doesn't look so hot from here, so I'm thinking about getting more education, even a college degree. The only way I could get a degree though would be from a correspondence school. One correspondence school said they will give me a degree if I complete the studies satisfactorily. What I want to know is whether such a degree will carry any weight when I start looking for a better job. Will it mean anything to some prospective employer if I have only a correspondence school degree?

DEAR DROP-OUT:
 Almost any school in any state can award diplomas and degrees with pomp and a flourish. The worth of those sheepskins is often sheared of value. Most schools are known to business men in the fields they cover. Ask around about the correspondence school you are thinking of. Instruct the school give you a list of graduates. Phone the list and see what the degree did for didn't do for them.

Passerby Puts Out Car Fire Caused by Burning Cigarette

A passerby noticed smoke coming from the rear seat of a car parked in the 300 block of W. College Avenue Wednesday and was responsible for putting out a fire caused by a cigarette.

Police said Ronald Grafmeir, 207 Lom St., Kimberly, spotted the fire in the car owned by Guy Hartman, 1631 N. Racine St., and pulled the rear seat from the car. Grafmeir extinguished the fire with water he got from a nearby restaurant.

Police said a passerby apparently flipped a cigarette through an open window in the driver's side of the car, causing the fire.

'Hello Kit' Required For Travels in Space

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—How would you explain life on earth to life on other planets? Naturally, you'd need a "Hello Kit."

But since earthlings are adventuring more and more into the vast pastures of space, the possibility of sustaining life—however remote—is in the life—or maybe 100 million planets, since the human eye has yet been unable to fathom the universe, and your guess is as good as anyone's.

Therefore it seems reasonable that earthlings—whether they are coming from this side or that side of the Iron Curtain—should carry an emergency packet to explain what civilization on earth amounts to.

Perhaps it might contain these things:

The Bible and the Communist Manifesto, a pair of nylon socks, a map of our world, as we draw it, an X-ray of a cancer, an ulcer, a cardiogram of a heart in trouble, Lenin, Goethe, Winston Churchill, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Too, recordings of melodies from Mozart, Tchaikowsky, and Beethoven, one aria from Italian opera, and a rock 'n' roll tune sung by Elvis Presley.

Then a drip-dry shirt, World Almanac, Encyclopedia Britannica, and the Oxford dictionary.

There should be a photograph showing an automobile parked 14 1/2 feet away from a fire by drant at the base of the Empire State Building—and a traffic cop writing out a ticket; the collected works of Sigmund Freud, any day newspaper, and any day's edition of Pravda and the Congressional Record.

To round it out there should be a scotch, bourbon, gin, vodka and soda pop.

With those testimonials any earthling who met a foreigner in space could demonstrate the life of the exemplifies.

No, come to think of it, he'd need these also: An aspirin tablet, frozen dinner and the tape of any stomach pills, a copy of his home episode from any television West-mortgage, an overdue bill from ern, private eye or human soap; his friendly neighborhood department series, a cigar, a package of ment store—and at least four cigarettes and one bottle each of it cards.
